THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and firms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company,
CASH CAPITAL OVER $1,900,000

all well invested for the benefit of Policy holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pay a large proportion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.

Insurance against loss or damage by fire, on Dwellings, Furniture, Stores, Warehouses, Merchandise, Mills, Manufactories, and most other kinds of property, can be effected in this company upon as favorable terms as the nature of the risks and security of policy-holders will admit.

The above is the oldest company doing business in this state, and with peculiar propriety has been denominated "The Old Hartford." As an indemnity to the insured, it refers to a solid million of assets well invested; and if anything were needed to commend it to the public for liberal patronage, we might offer its history of success in business and honorable dealing with its patrons, for over half a century, as amply sufficient for the purpose.

DAILY GAZETTE.

From Chambers' Journal.

Three years elapsed, and there came a longer letter, with an order to draw a sum of money every six months at the banker's in the market town. He had got a berth on board H M S something or other—the schoolmaster said Vulcan, the clergyman Vulcure, and the little tailor read Valiant, but our Jack wrote such a strange, "scrawling hand," as his dear mother called it, that it might well mean all manner of things. On turning to the purser's order for the money, it was found to be the Valiant, bound for the African coast to intercept slavers. Two more years, and with an increase in the money she drew, there came a rich shawl, which would become his dear old mother about as well as the dress of a bloomer; and a pair of beautiful stuffed birds for the joiner's pretty daughter, who had sent "her respects" in his mother's letters. The birds were in the attitude of fighting, which caused the pretty maiden to laugh, for she said "that was what she was always a doing with Our Jack," but her mother said "she had a good cry over them" when she placed them on her chest of drawers in her bedroom.

The farmer, whose orchard Jack helped to rob, had sent out his best wishes and had received in return a basket of curious shells, which, as he said, "made his parlor look as fine as five-pence." More letters and more presents, from time to time, with orders for more money, and so seven years passed away since he first left home.—Meantime the joiner's pretty daughter had rejected many offers, and had grown into the sweetest flower of the village.

Another June came on in her chariot of roses, and a smell of new hay hung around the picturesque hamlet, which the carrier's cart was entering two hours before sunset, with a beautiful parrot in an immense cage, fastened on the tilt of his vehicle, and a long stuffed sword fish that hung partly over the shaft horse which, with the leader, was decorated with bows of blue ribbon.

All the village was out to look at the parrot, the sword-fish and the horses, and from the hurrahs of the carrier and the waving of his hat, they knew that "he had his lounce"—meaning that he was pretty tipsy. And while he shouted, a voice from inside the tilted cart kept calling on the horses to move "larboard or starboard," which they, like very wise horses, paid no regard to. With half the villagers behind and around, the cart at last halted before the cottage where Our Jack's mother resided, and then both the carrier and his passenger called out lustily, "Ship ahoy!"

Then the dear old woman came out in her spectacles, thinking he had brought her another letter; and the pretty maiden came tripping from over the way, ready to read it to her as she had always done, when a tall, handsome sailor, as brown as a horse-chesnut, sprang with a bound from the cart shafts, and knocking off her spectacles as he threw his brawny arms around her, exclaimed, "dear mother," while in a tremulous voice, as she raised her eyes to heaven, she uttered then words, "my son, my dear son!" and all the villagers said, "why, it's Our Jack! and the pretty maiden re-crossed the road, scarlet with blushes, and with a new and strange sensation beating about her heart. She had never dreamed he could have grown so handsome, so bold, and manly-looking. As for Our Jack, he had not even noticed her—he had no eyes, no ears, no words for any one save his dear old mother.

The first interview over, there was the carrier's cart to unload; and many a long month had elapsed since the old man bro't such a load, for it was half filled with presents brought by our Jack, who had something for every one whose name he could remember—coral, shells, curious seaweed, stuffed birds, and fishes, skins, Indian ornaments, besides more costly articles, for his ship had taken several prizes, and his own share of the money amounted to a goodly sum, as he had already risen to the rank of mate.

Meantime, the old carrier had shown to the wondering rustics the new silver watch which Jack had given him; and told them how Jack had vowed he would hire a chaise and pair to carry him home, and not ride with him, if he would not take it as a keepsake.

Partly to ease his fine, overflowing heart and hide the tears which would keep falling, Our Jack went out into the little garden to look at it once more. What numbers of times he had recalled that old lilac tree, with the bees murmuring amid its bloom in spring; that rose-tree covered as he then saw it, with summer roses; the vine he had trained on the cottage wall, and often wondered if it were hung with purple grapes in autumn; the holly from which he had gathered crimson berries in winter—and which were all there, though thrice the size since he left home! Ah! how often had they appeared to his inward eye while keeping watch at sea. The sun setting on the cottage window; the daisy-covered field beyond the cottage hedge; the old thorn, with its moonlight covered May blossoms, with the singing of the birds in those golden mornings, had come back upon his waking thoughts, and mingled with his dreams when he lay baking under hatches on the African coast, or riding through the swell of stormier seas. And while these thoughts again passed through his mind, bright eyes were watching him from over the way, peeping out of the corner of the blind, half sly, half shy—her heart as ready to romp as ever it was, but its wild fluttering reined back by maiden modesty; her merry laughter as ready to leap out of her lips as when, in his rough play, he tore the frock from her shoulders, but withheld by a womanly seriousness, which seemed to have deepened since his return. And now Jack's mother joins him in the garden, and tells him all about her—how she attended her in a long ilness, and was like a daughter to her, sitting up by night, and watching over her by day; and her eyes fill as she clasps his tar-stained hand, adding:

"But for her, Jack, I should have been laid beside your father in the green church yard. She has been like a dear daughter to me, as well as a loving nurse. I have sent for her to come and take tea with you; but she's turned so shy all at once, that I can't get her to come over."

Passing his hand across his eyes, while a smile chases away the momentary sadness, Our Jack says he'll try what he can do to persuade her; and over the way he goes, carrying with him a rich shawl for her mother, and a curious pipe and real foreign tabacco for her father. He stays a long time, and his dear mother begins to grow fidgetty in watching for them from the window. At last they come; he brings home his prize; arm in arm they come! Happy Jack! happy maiden! joyous old mother! There was some difficulty in getting her to come down stairs; the mother tried, and the father tried in vain, and it was only through Jack coming to the stair-foot at last, and saying, "Come, Mary, I can't go to sea again without bidding you good bye," that she came. As she put her little, honest, hard-working hands in his, and said, "I am glad to see you back again," and just raised for a moment her timid eyes, he caught something of the old expression of their squealing, romping days, when they fought and made it up again—a little of the old, arch, harmless wickedness which was even then endearing, as showing her bold and fearless spirit. Then they were left together for a few minutes. There were traces of tears in her eyes after the interview; but never were they followed by so soft, so sweet, so sunny a smile, as when she came out of the parlor hanging on his arm, and he in his honest, blunt, sailor-like way, said to her parents:

"She's consented to be my partner in the cruise through life, if you'll allow it."

They understood enough of his nautical imagery to give their consent, and he led her home to his mother triumphant.

Then he inquired after his good old school fellows and playmates, and signed over the memory of those that were dead; and the next morning he stood all alone in the village churchyard, having cleared the low wall with a stride and a skip, and giving his trousers a hitch, and paced about with folded arms and rocking gait as when he walked the deck at sea. And as he thought of those who lay there, and the messmates he had seen lowered into the deep—and above all, of the tarry topman who was his sworn brother, and whose eyes he had closed—tears stood in his eyes, as if at a loss which way to flow along those hardy, sun-tanned cheeks, which neither fear nor danger could furrow. He promised to visit the mother of his dead ship-mate; and will, no matter how remote the distance, or great the cost, bear to her his dying wishes; for the promise made to his messmate is sacred in the eyes of Our Jack.

The table under these machines is 24 inches long, and the shuttle will hold six times the usual quantity of thread. The large machines work as fast as small ones

We would ask for our Letter A machines, the special attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want machines for Light Manufacturing purposes. They embody the principles of the standard machines, making like them, the interlock stitch, and are destined to be as celebrated for Family Sewing and light manufacturing purposes as our standard machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.

We have always on hand

Hemming Guages, Silk Twist, Linen and Cotton Thread on Spools, Best Machine Oil in Bottles, etc., etc.

We manufacture our own Needles, and would warn all persons using our machines not to buy any others. We know that there are needles sold of the most inferior quality, at higher prices than we charge for the best. The needles sold by us are manufactured especially for our machines. A bad needle may render the best machine almost useless.

Our customers may rest assured that all our Branch Offices are furnished with the

GENUINE ARTICLE.

In case of small purchases, the money may be sent in postage stamps or bank notes.

Correspondents will please write their names distinctly. It is all important that we should in each case know the post office, county and state.

All persons requiring information about Sewing Machines, their size, prices, working capacities, and the best methods of purchasing, can obtain it by sending to us, or any of our Branch Offices for a copy of which is a beautifully illustrated Pictorial Paper. It will be sent Gratis

I. M. SINGER & CO.'S GAZETTE,

We have made the above Reduction in Prices with the two fold view of benefitting the public and ourselves The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in imitation of ours. The metal in them, from the iron casting to the smallest piece, is of poor quality. Their makers have not the means to do their work well. They are hid away in secret places, where it would be impossible to have at their command the proper mechanical appliances. It is only by doing a great business, and having extensive manufacturing establishments, that good machines can be made at moderate prices. The best designed machines, Badly Made, are always liable to get out of order, and are sure to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repair.

The qualities to be looked for in a machine are: certainty of correct action at all rates of speed, simplicity of construction, great durability and rapidity of operation, with the least labor. Machines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the best metal and finished to perfection. We have the ways and means, on a grand scale, to do this.

The purchasers of machines, whose daily bread it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as slow rates of speed, but last long in the finest possible working order. Our machines, as made by us, will earn more money with less labor than any others, whether in imitation of ours or not. In fact, they are cheaper than any other machine as a gift.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

As an indemnity to the insured, it refers to a solid million of assets well invested; and if anything were needed to commend it to the public for liberal patronage, we might offer its history of success in business and honorable dealing with its patrons, for over half a century, as amply sufficient for the purpose.

From Chambers' Journal.

Our Jack.

Three years elapsed, and there came a longer letter, with an order to draw a sum of money every six months at the banker's in the market town. He had got a berth on board H M S something or other—the schoolmaster said Vulcan, the clergyman Vulcure, and the little tailor read Valiant, but our Jack wrote such a strange, "scrawling hand," as his dear mother called it, that it might well mean all manner of things. On turning to the purser's order for the money, it was found to be the Valiant, bound for the African coast to intercept slavers. Two more years, and with an increase in the money she drew, there came a rich shawl, which would become his dear old mother about as well as the dress of a bloomer; and a pair of beautiful stuffed birds for the joiner's pretty daughter, who had sent "her respects" in his mother's letters. The birds were in the attitude of fighting, which caused the pretty maiden to laugh, for she said "that was what she was always a doing with Our Jack," but her mother said "she had a good cry over them" when she placed them on her chest of drawers in her bedroom.

The farmer, whose orchard Jack helped to rob, had sent out his best wishes and had received in raturn a basket of curious shells, which, as he said, "made his parlor look as fine as five-pence." More letters and more presents, from time to time, with orders for more money, and so seven years passed away since he first left home.—Meantime the joiner's pretty daughter had rejected many offers, and had grown into the sweetest flower of the village.

Another June came on in her chariot of roses, and a smell of new hay hung around the picturesque hamlet, which the carrier's cart was entering two hours before sunset, with a beautiful parrot in an immense cage, fastened on the tilt of his vehicle, and a long stuffed sword fish that hung partly over the shaft horse which, with the leader, was decorated with bows of blue ribbon.

All the village was out to look at the parrot, the sword-fish and the horses, and from the hurrahs of the carrier and the waving of his hat, they knew that "he had his lounce"—meaning that he was pretty tipsy. And while he shouted, a voice from inside the tilted cart kept calling on the horses to move "larboard or starboard," which they, like very wise horses, paid no regard to. With half the villagers behind and around, the cart at last halted before the cottage where Our Jack's mother resided, and then both the carrier and his passenger called out lustily, "Ship ahoy!"

Then the dear old woman came out in her spectacles, thinking he had brought her another letter; and the pretty maiden came tripping from over the way, ready to read it to her as she had always done, when a tall, handsome sailor, as brown as a horse-chesnut, sprang with a bound from the cart shafts, and knocking off her spectacles as he threw his brawny arms around her, exclaimed, "dear mother," while in a tremulous voice, as she raised her eyes to heaven, she uttered then words, "my son, my dear son!" and all the villagers said, "why, it's Our Jack! and the pretty maiden re-crossed the road, scarlet with blushes, and with a new and strange sensation beating about her heart. She had never dreamed he could have grown so handsome, so bold, and manly-looking. As for Our Jack, he had not even noticed her—he had no eyes, no ears, no words for any one save his dear old mother.

The first interview over, there was the carrier's cart to unload; and many a long month had elapsed since the old man bro't such a load, for it was half filled with presents brought by our Jack, who had something for every one whose name he could remember—coral, shells, curious seaweed, stuffed birds, and fishes, skins, Indian ornaments, besides more costly articles, for his ship had taken several prizes, and his own share of the money amounted to a goodly sum, as he had already risen to the rank of mate.

Meantime, the old carrier had shown to the wondering rustics the new silver watch which Jack had given him; and told them how Jack had vowed he would hire a chaise and pair to carry him home, and not ride with him, if he would not take it as a keepsake.

Partly to ease his fine, overflowing heart and hide the tears which would keep falling, Our Jack went out into the little garden to look at it once more. What numbers of times he had recalled that old lilac tree, with the bees murmuring amid its bloom in spring; that rose-tree covered as he then saw it, with summer roses; the vine he had trained on the cottage wall, and often wondered if it were hung with purple grapes in autumn; the holly from which he had gathered crimson berries in winter—and which were all there, though thrice the size since he left home! Ah! how often had they appeared to his inward eye while keeping watch at sea. The sun setting on the cottage window; the daisy-covered field beyond the cottage hedge; the old thorn, with its moonlight-covered May blossoms, with the singing of the birds in those golden mornings, had come back upon his waking thoughts, and mingled with his dreams when he lay baking under hatches on the African coast, or riding through the swell of stormier seas. And while these thoughts again passed through his mind, bright eyes were watching him from over the way, peeping out of the corner of the blind, half sly, half shy—her heart as ready to romp as ever it was, but its wild fluttering reined back by maiden modesty; her merry laughter as ready to leap out of her lips as when, in his rough play, he tore the frock from her shoulders, but withheld by a womanly seriousness, which seemed to have deepened since his return. And now Jack's mother joins him in the garden, and tells him all about her—how she attended her in a long ilness, and was like a daughter to her, sitting up by night, and watching over her by day; and her eyes fill as she clasps his tar-stained hand, adding:

"But for her, Jack, I should have been laid beside your father in the green church yard. She has been like a dear daughter to me, as well as a loving nurse. I have sent for her to come and take tea with you; but she's turned so shy all at once, that I can't get her to come over."

Passing his hand across his eyes, while a smile chases away the momentary sadness, Our Jack says he'll try what he can do to persuade her; and over the way he goes, carrying with him a rich shawl for her mother, and a curious pipe and real foreign tabacco for her father. He stays a long time, and his dear mother begins to grow fidgetty in watching for them from the window. At last they come; he brings home his prize; arm in arm they come! Happy Jack! happy maiden! joyous old mother! There was some difficulty in getting her to come down stairs; the mother tried, and the father tried in vain, and it was only through Jack coming to the stair-foot at last, and saying, "Come, Mary, I can't go to sea again without bidding you good bye," that she came. As she put her little, honest, hard-working hands in his, and said, "I am glad to see you back again," and just raised for a moment her timid eyes, he caught something of the old expression of their squealing, romping days, when they fought and made it up again—a little of the old, arch, harmless wickedness which was even then endearing, as showing her bold and fearless spirit. Then they were left together for a few minutes. There were traces of tears in her eyes after the interview; but never were they followed by so soft, so sweet, so sunny a smile, as when she came out of the parlor hanging on his arm, and he in his honest, blunt, sailor-like way, said to her parents:

"She's consented to be my partner in the cruise through life, if you'll allow it."

They understood enough of his nautical imagery to give their consent, and he led her home to his mother triumphant.

Then he inquired after his good old school fellows and playmates, and signed over the memory of those that were dead; and the next morning he stood all alone in the village churchyard, having cleared the low wall with a stride and a skip, and giving his trousers a hitch, and paced about with folded arms and rocking gait as when he walked the deck at sea. And as he thought of those who lay there, and the messmates he had seen lowered into the deep—and above all, of the tarry topman who was his sworn brother, and whose eyes he had closed—tears stood in his eyes, as if at a loss which way to flow along those hardy, sun-tanned cheeks, which neither fear nor danger could furrow. He promised to visit the mother of his dead ship-mate; and will, no matter how remote the distance, or great the cost, bear to her his dying wishes; for the promise made to his messmate is sacred in the eyes of Our Jack.

GREAT REDUCTION —IN— The Prices —OF— SINGER & CO.'S STANDARD MACHINES,

Well known to be the best for

Manufacturing Purposes:

No. 1, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly sold at $90,

Reduced to $70.

No. 2, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly sold at $100,

Reduced to $75.

Singer's Letter A Machine,

IS the best Machine in the word for Family Sewing and Light Manufacturing purposes; Price, (with Hemmer,) and beautifully ornamented, FIFTY DOLLARS.

The Nos. 1 and 2 machines are of great capacity and application for manufacturing purposes.

Our No. 3 machines are especially adapted to all kinds of light and heavy in Carriage Trimming, Boot and Shoe Making, Harness Making, etc., etc. They are of extra size, with an arm long enough to take under it and stitch the largest sized dashes. There is scarcely any part of a Trimmers' stitching that cannot be better done with them than by hand; so, too, the saving of time and labor is very great. The table under these machines is 21 inches long, and the shuttle will hold six times the usual quantity of thread. The large machines work as fast as small ones.

We would ask for our Letter A machines, the special attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want machines for Light Manufacturing purposes. They embody the principles of the standard machines, making like them, the interlock stitch, and are destined to be as celebrated for Family Sewing and light manufacturing purposes as our standard machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.

We have always on hand

Hemming Guages, Silk Twist, Linen and Cotton Thread on Spools, Best Machine Oil in Bottles, etc., etc.

We manufacture our own Needles, and would warn all persons using our machines not to buy any others. We know that there are needles sold of the most inferior quality, at higher prices than we charge for the best. The needles sold by us are manufactured especially for our machines. A bad needle may render the best machine almost useless.

Our customers may rest assured that all our Branch Offices are furnished with the

GENUINE ARTICLE.

In case of small purchases, the money may be sent in postage stamps or bank notes.

Correspondents will please write their names distinctly. It is all important that we should in each case know the post office, county and state.

All persons requiring information about Sewing Machines, their size, prices, working capacities, and the best methods of purchasing, can obtain it by sending to us, or any of our Branch Offices for a copy of which is a beautifully illustrated Pictorial Paper. It will be sent Gratis

I. M. SINGER & CO.'S GAZETTE,

We have made the above Reduction in Prices with the two fold view of benefitting the public and ourselves. The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in imitation of ours. The metal in them, from the iron casting to the smallest piece, is of poor quality. Their makers have not the means to do their work well. They are hid away in secret places, where it would be impossible to have at their command the proper mechanical appliances. It is only by doing a great business, and having extensive manufacturing establishments, that good machines can be made at moderate prices. The best designed machines, Badly Made, are always liable to get out of order, and are sure to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repair.

The qualities to be looked for in a machine are: certainty of correct action at all rates of speed, simplicity of construction, great durability and rapidity of operation, with the least labor. Machines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the best metal and finished to perfection. We have the ways and means, on a grand scale, to do this.

The purchasers of machines, whose daily bread it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as slow rates of speed, but last long in the finest possible working order. Our machines, as made by us, will earn more money with less labor than any others, whether in imitation of ours or not. In fact, they are cheaper than any other machine as a gift.

The News.

We have at last intelligence direct from Burnside's expedition. The previous accounts are confirmed, except that the loss on both sides is very much less than reported by the rebels.

Springfield, Mo., is in possession of our troops. Price is not "bagged," and the federal army is at last back again just where Fremont left it.

Fort Donelson.

It is understood that the attack on this fort will be made to-day. Greater preparations have been made for it than for the assault upon Fort Henry. The gunboats will take a part in the affair, under the command Com. Foote. A large addition has been made to the number of the troops, under the command of Gen. Grant. We notice that at one time 11 transports went up from Cairo together. We are also informed that the supply of cannon is in larger proportion than upon any previous military enterprise. It is expected that a fierce resistence will be made, but the preparations on our side have been so ample that a failure is scarcely possible.

Fort Donelson is situated on the Cumberland river, 12 miles east of Fort Henry, below the crossing of the railroad which leads from Columbus to Nashville and Bowling Green.

An Unpleasant Development.

A circumstance has just transpired which shows how easily the good nature and friendly impulses of President Lincoln are imposed upon by designing and unscrupulous knaves, who congregate about Washington, we believe, in greater numbers than any other place on earth.

The famous, or rather infamous "Chevalier" Wickoff has been prowling about the presidential mansion of late, and by his unequaled impudence, became a visitor there upon somewhat familiar terms. Recently he was charged with having received, in a clandestine manner, a portion of the President's last annual message, which he transmitted for publication to the New York Herald, before it was laid before congress. For this, he was arrested and brought before a committee of the house, and required to divulge the name of the person from whom he received it. This he refused to do, and was placed in close custody for a contempt of the house.

Yesterday the President went before the committee and gave his testimony in relation to the matter. Afterwards Wickoff admitted that he received the document from Watt, the President's gardner, who purloined it. This Watt has long been known to be disloyal, and the President was informed of it by Judge Potter, chairman of the investigating committee, but no attention was paid to the warning for several weeks.—Finally, Watt was dismissed, but it was not long before he received an appointment as second lieutenant in the regular army, to the great surprise of Mr. Lincoln's friends. The President must be convinced that he has been imposed upon, since the development in relation to Wickoff.

We do not believe that in this case, nor in that of Marshal Lamon, whom the President attempts to protect in his scandulous proceedings, Mr. Lincoln would knowingly and willfully countenance men untrue to the country; but it is through the generosity and kindness of his nature that these disreputable persons are permitted to use his friendship, to subserve their own selfish, and in some cases, traitorous designs. It is a dangerous time for those charged with public duties to permit their feelings of friendship to blind the judgment in directing matters of public concern. We trust that President Lincoln will see, in the circumstances of this case, that it is not safe to permit even his nearest friend, not even one who occupies a place in his own family and at his own fireside, to unduly influence him in the discharge of his high and sacred public trusts.

WASHINGTON CITY PRISON.—The prison at Washington City grows worse, notwithstanding the airing it received in the senate not long since, and the late orders of Secretary Seward. Marshal Lamon, according to Senator Wilson's statement, permits the most horrible atrocities to be committed there upon fugitive slaves. One was immured in the dungeon after a futile effort to escape, and then sent to the Baltimore slave pen. He said he considered the senate responsible for the continuance of these things, since it had confirmed Marshal Lamon. Mr. Hale said the president who was responsible, had taken no notice of the senate's unanimous condemnation of Lamon. Mr. Wilson has introduced a bill in the senate, taking the control out of the hands of Lamon, and giving it to the district jail warden, for whose appointment it provides, conferring upon him the exclusive custody and control of the Washington jail, with all powers and functions now legally executed and discharged by Marshal Lamon.

Test of the Mortar Boats.

[Special Correspondence of the Missouri Democrat.]

CAIRO, Feb 9, 1862.

In respect to the efficiency of the mortar boats constructed at St. Louis at the suggestion of Gen. Fremont, there have been many doubts in the minds of well meaning persons, including a number of army and navy officers. They have been thought clumsy, insufficient in their bulwarks, incapable of bearing the heavy mortars designed for them, and beyond all question incapable of resisting the terrible concussion which would attend the firing of a thirteen-inch shell.

All these opinions and prognostications have been overthrown to-day by the experiment made under the superintendence of Capt. Constable, and before a committee of three, composed of himself, Capt. Kilty, of the gunboat Mound City, and Capt. Dove, of the gunboat Louisville.

One of the mortar boats, No. 35, was taken in tow this morning, by three steam tugs and conveyed to a point a few hundred yards below Fort Holt, on the Kentucky shore. The huge mortar had previously been placed on board, and fixed upon one of Rodman's mortar carriages or beds. Ten or twelve of the thirteen-inch shells were prepared, filled, however, with wet sand instead of powder, the object of the experiment simply being to ascertain the range of the mortar and the effect of the firing upon the various parts of the boat. The boat was fastened to the shore and the mortar directed down the river, which from that point stretches away in a broad and straight sheet of water five or six miles towards Columbus.

Everything having been got in readiness, Capt. Constable fired a small charge of four pounds of powder for the purpose of "scaling" the mortar. The first experiment with a shell then followed, with a charge of eleven pounds of powder. When all was ready the boat was cleared of the company, most of us retiring to the shore, Capt. Constable alone remaining to discharge the gun. Ready! fire! A deafening concussion, and in an instant the huge shell was seen mounting in the air with a magnificent curve, and its terrible roar gradually diminishing as its distance from us rapidly increased. It may have risen to the height of half a mile, and was almost lost to view before it began to make its descending curve.

On its disappearance our eyes were eagerly directed to the river's level to mark its fall. It was wonderful to wait so long, the seconds lengthening out as it seemed to minutes. The suspense was relieved by the sudden shooting up from the water's line of a white column of spray far down the Mississippi, and as it was estimated, two miles and a half away from us. The mortar boat was scarcely moved by the explosion, and the mortar carriage recoiled but two or three inches. This was very encouraging.

The second experiment was made with 20 pounds of powder, Capt. Constable again discharging the gun. The concussion was terrific. Some distance in the rear of the boat, where I was standing, it was not painful, but those who remained alongside and in the boat were considerably shocked.—The shell rose beautifully, mounting much higher in the air, and at the expiration of 29½ (twenty-nine and one-half) seconds struck the water at an estimated distance of three miles. This concussion showed itself very palpably upon the boat. The hatchway coverings in the front part were lifted off, and in some cases broken and split, while the boat itself recoiled some two or three feet, and penetrated the soft bank of the river.

Experiment number three was made with the full charge of twenty-three pounds of powder. The time of the flight of the ball was thirty-one seconds, and the distance three and a half miles. The recoil of the gun carriage was about two feet, and the effect of the concussion upon the loose wooden work of the boat was the same as in the previous shot.

Experiment number four gave results similar to number three, Capt. Paulding, of the gunboat St. Louis, discharging the gun in the place of Capt. Constable. Capt. Paulding describes the concussion as very stunning and painful, and thinks it could not be endured within the bulwarks of the mortar boat by any man for more than eight or ten consecutive shots.

Number five was with but fifteen pounds of powder, the mortar in this case being elevated to more than forty-five degrees. The shell was twenty-eight seconds in the air, and seemed to fall as far away as any of the preceding ones, which led to the opinion in the minds of the committee, that a lighter charge of powder was quite as efficient as a full twenty-three pound charge.

The mortar boats are about sixty feet long, and twenty-five feet wide, surrounded on all sides by iron-plate bulwarks, six or seven feet high. The mortar itself weighs 17,210 pounds; has a bore easily admitting a 13-inch shell, and from the edge of the bore to the outside rim is 17 inches. The mortar bed weighs 4,500 pounds, and from the experiment of to-day, is pronounced by Captain Constable to be the most admirable mortar carriage yet invented. The shell filled with wet sand weighed 230 pounds, an enormous missile to be hurled through the air a distance farther than from the levee to Grand avenue, in your city. Filled with powder these shells will weigh 215 pounds, and can be thrown at least a half a mile farther than were those filled with the sand.

Say, twenty of these mortar boats drop down to within easy reach of Columbus, and at the same time be out of the reach of the best rifled cannon the rebels may bring to bear—so small, indeed, at a distance of three and half or four miles as scarcely to be discernable on the surface of the water. Say further, that each of these boats will fire, at a very low estimate, four shells an hour. Then twenty of them would discharge eighty shell an hour, with perfect impunity, and at this rate for one night of ten hours eight hundred of these terrific missiles may be thrown into the rebel camp and fortifications. Can they endure it? Pandemonium would be a Paradise to the place it would make of Columbus.

The trial of to-day demonstrated that the recoil of the boat was altogether lateral, and not perpendicular, as it was feared it would be. It also shows that the iron bulwarks render the concussion more severe than it would be without them, and that if they are permitted to remain, some plan will have to be devised by which the gunners at each discharge may get outside of them. Illustrating the effects of the concussion is the circumstance that the cap of the gunner who discharged the 15-pound charge was carried away from his head, and he almost taken off his feet.

Another objection to the boat, discovered to-day, was its construction at the bow and stern. Unless towed very slowly, both up and down stream, it dipped the water considerably. These, however, are all minor objections, and easily got rid of. The boats will admirably serve the purpose for which they were designed, and prove the most terrible engines of destruction the enemy have yet had to encounter. Yours, &c.,

Correspondence of the Daily Gazette.

From the Second Regiment.

CAMP TILLINGHAST, Virginia, February 9th, 1862.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—The past five weeks have been very disagreeable for camp life—nothing but rain and mud. The roads have been in a very bad condition, and they are not much better now. I do not know in what way things will shape if this state of affairs continues much longer; but then it cannot last long. If it does, it will be necessary for us to purchase a scow to cross the road to visit our friends in the 7th.—They are a noble body of men, and will do good service in the field when once they have the opportunity. If the roads were smooth, I do not think that the army would remain here many days. The troops are healthy, in good spirits and eager for an opportunity to meet the rebels on soil of their own choosing. The story would soon be told. The army of the Potomac has been encamped on and near its banks for six long months, with nothing to arouse them except now and then the announcement of a victory over the rebels by some other division of the army or the navy.—Late there has nothing of any importance transpired at this point worthy of notice, except the capture of a few rebels. Sunday last, the 2d, Col. Harris of the 2d Virginia cavalry, and his escort, came to our lines under a flag of truce, bearing dispatches from Gen. A. T. Johnson, commanding the rebel army at Centerville, to Gen. McClellan. The colonel was brought blindfolded to the Arlington House, and the dispatches sent to headquarters. What the nature of them was I am unable to say; as it has not been made public. The answer in all probability has been sent back, though nothing is known respecting it.

The news from Tennessee and the west is very encouraging, and has created a lively feeling in the different camps on the Potomac. Friday last a detachment of Cameron dragoons, on a scouting expedition, proceeded out beyond Fairfax Court House, surprising and taking prisoners 13 rebel cavalry men. During the exchange of shots a captain and sergeant of the dragoons were wounded.

Georgetown is a famous place, being a hot-bed of rattle-headed, rabid secessionists. The city of Washington also contains many disloyal inhabitants. The state of Maryland needs only a defeat of the federal army to show her sentiment. But the time for defeats has passed by. It is now our turn for victories. The farmers who reside here are very scattering, and those that are here the most awkward, ignorant and superstitious class of human beings that ever inhabited any civilized country. It is a mystery how they can live here. White beans would not grow in the part of Virginia that I have seen. I should prefer a few feet of land on Magnolia Bluffs, to a section of land here.

The health of our regiment is very good, but few are in the hospital. There has been much said through the columns of the newspapers of the demoralization of the 2d regiment. If those correspondents would attend to their own affairs and let the 2d alone, there would not be such a bitter animosity between us as there is at present.—Our officers, I think, are equally as good in military knowledge as any in the brigade, if they do not excel them, which I think they do.

To our friends I would say that we should be happy to hear from them as often as convenient. To-day is rather chilly and cloudy, the drums are beating for roll call, and I must close. E. T. W.

Correspondence of the Daily Gazette.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11, 1862.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—Your correspondent had set apart this night to attend the theater, but upon consulting the programme he found the principal play to consist of an Indian tragedy; so, knowing the character of the Indian pretty well, and having seen enough of the real Indian in Kansas, and elsewhere, he is not particularly anxious to give fifty cents to see any delineation of it, whatever; he therefore has concluded to relieve your anxiety as to his whereabouts, and drop you a line with a small hook, poorly baited, from this city.

This is a goodly city, but I do not mean to describe it. It contains many fine buildings, public and private, but I don't mean to describe them. It is full of secesh, but they are miserable scamps generally, and as our army is bound to "pursue, take and destroy" them, I will pass them by and content myself with the journey of a day in, about and around this aforesaid goodly city. In the morning I set out to visit the hospitals, but on knocking for admission was informed that this was not "visiting day," and not being provided with a talismanic open sesame, from governor or medical director, could not come in; being good looking would not do. I could not learn as there was any Wisconsin boys in there, therefore was not so anxious.

After my repulse at the hospital, concluded to try my luck at the post office, where I had better luck. The postmaster himself was not at home. Strange that they wont attend to their business! What right has a P. M. to be absent? but his assistant, Mr. Smith, received me very kindly, and courteously showed me through the institution. It is a very respectable concern, well arranged and ably conducted—that is, for St. Louis; of course it don't compare with yours. Ah, the people of Janesville are very fortunate in their P. M.; they should appreciate him, I do. I also paid a visit to the editors' room of the Missouri Democrat, where I was very courteously received also, but the editor-in-chief, Mr. Fishback, the only one with whom I had any acquaintance, was at Cairo, or up the Tennessee river, consequently I did not prolong the call. By this time it had approached the dinner hour, when I repaired to mine inn, where I met a live major general, Halleck, and saw him feed. He is a fair sized man, not so large as Gen. Scott, nor so small as Gen. Thumb, but well made, with a dark grey eye, a firm mouth, intelligent face and magnificent forehead, projecting well over the eyes; but his nose is contemptible—one of those nondescript, neither Roman nor Grecian, aqualine or snub noses, but concave on the top and ending in a point sharp enough for a tooth-pick. Bah! Still, he is a good looking man, and is proving himself to be a pretty good manager. He puts on no airs, is unassuming and accessible, wears citizen's dress, relishes good wine, and eats as if he loved it. He is pretty well calculated for this meridian.

After dinner I took the cars for Camp Benton. On the way I made the acquaintance of Capt. J. L. McCloud, of Co. F, 3d Michigan cavalry, who very politely conducted me through the camp, and showed me all that was to be seen, which, by the way, was not worth recording. There are only about four thousand troops in camp here now mostly cavalry. I also struck an acquaintance with a private of the 3d Iowa cavalry, but a citizen of Missouri, who told me that his father was in the secesh army. When asked if he would shoot him if he met him in battle, he answered no, but should try hard to capture him, though.

I also took a good look at the Missouri state fair grounds, which are located adjoining the camp, and are said to be the finest in the United States. I shall not describe them, but content myself with saying that the grounds are good, the fence firm, the stalls substantial, the trees true to nature, the ampitheatre ample, and the whole a credit to the city and state.

The secessionists have ugly looking faces over the news from the Tennessee river and Roanoke Island; but the Unionists, particularly the female variety, look beautiful. These warm days appear to be thawing out the anaconda; the mud is bad for him however, but let us hope that he wont get paralyzed or dormant again, but continue to contract himself and tighten his folds until this rebellion is crushed, and the scoundrels who inaugurated it.

The weather here is fine and warm to-day, and the mud abundant. There is considerable ice running in the river, but it is small and soft and does not endanger navigation. Off for Cairo to-morrow.

Yours, etc., VOX.

BY TELEGRAPH.

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.

BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE.
Office in Union Passenger Depot

Last Night's Report.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.

The steamer Baltic arrived and brings 700 bales of cotton and the crews of the stone fleet. Eight rebel prisoners were also brought and placed in Fort Lafayette, who were captured in a skirmish. The weather was getting very warm and heavy rains. Contrabands were still gathering cotton, and their numbers fast increasing. Gen. Sherman has succeeded in excluding all reporters from his lines. Several regiments had left Hilton Head for the foot of Dawfus Key Island, the nearest point to Fort Pulaski that can be occupied except Tybee. Several gun boats, a schooner, and a number of flats with Parrot guns, howitzers and mortars accompanied the expedition. Tatnall's gunboats soon after made their appearance, and three ran the gauntlet to Fort Pulaski. Stevens' brigade was prevented from forming a junction on account of obstructions in the river. Fort Pulaski is said to be in as bad a situation as Fort Sumter was. Our engineers are driving piles to —— Island for a road and for a foundation for batteries. This island lies between our forces and Fort Jackson. Our forces make advances every day. Fort Jackson is to be taken and Savannah will soon be captured.

Another account says the expedition left Monday, including all the gunboats, and transports sufficient for the shipment of 12,000 troops, which will go through Callabaga Sound into Savannah river, without coming within range of Pulaski's guns. The rebels have withdrawn a large number of troops from Charleston and Port Royal to Savannah. Twelve thousand troops were to leave Monday to take the railroad, and thence to Charleston. Three regiments of cavalry will join them; also several artillery regiments. Weather beautiful, and troops enthusiastic.

LEAVENWORTH, Feb. 12.

Major General Hunter made a formal call on Senator Lane yesterday. Matters in regard to the southern expedition remains in statu quo. Lane has not resigned his senatorship. No movements of troops of particular moment have taken place within the last two weeks. The 13th Wisconsin have gone to Fort Scott.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13.

The Republican's Fort Henry correspondence gives further particulars of the Tennessee river gunboat expedition. Everywhere the people insisted upon loading their visitors with presents, and the river can be navigated almost as safely as the Ohio. Blessings, cheers and the wildest enthusiasm greeted the gunboats everywhere. Numbers of prominet men came forward and said that should the Union army enter Tennessee, 50,000 men were ready and anxious to protect their homes, &c.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.

The military committee of the senate have unanimously reported in favor of Gen. Smith's confirmation, but no definite action has yet been taken.

Secretary Stanton is confined to his house by a slight illness.

The California delegation, and others, were before the committee on ways and means yesterday about the overland mail to California. The committee decided to report an appropriation for it.

A highly complimentary dispatch was sent from the navy department, last Sunday, to Commodore Foote.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13.

A Cairo special to the Democrat says that passengers by the Evansville packet report passing at Paducah this morning eleven transports laden with troops.

The forty-sixth, thirty-first, and fortieth Illinois, a battalion of the twenty-ninth Illinois, and a company of the eighth Wisconsin left here this afternoon.

Signal fire balloons, apparently sent up from Mayfield by the rebels, have been seen from here for the past three nights. Advices from Fort Henry say much reliance is placed on the 20-pound rifled Parrott guns of the first Missouri artillery, three batteries of which are there under Major Cavender. Four more regiments reached there last night.

Our reconnoitering parties went within one mile of Fort Donelson yesterday, and a squadron of cavalry barely escaped capture by 900 rebel cavalry, supported by infantry.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.

Tribune's Correspondence:—Sen. Sumner's relolution on the relations between the United States and the rebel territory, were laid on the table at his motion, where they can be followed up whenever he thinks best.

A bill organizing the rebel territory into territorial governments, on the principles of these resolutions, will shortly be reported by the territorial committees of the two houses. Another bill establishing a provisional government, since it has been sanctioned in one important quarter.

No decision has been reached by the war department in the Hunter and Lane matter. Gen. Lane is still waiting at Leavenworth for news from Washington. We have the authority of Mr. Covode for saying that he made the original arrangement with Secretary Cameron, by which the government agreed to furnish Gen. Lane with the troops he wanted, and that throughout the negotiations Mr. Hunter's name was not uttered, and there was no intimation that any one except Gen. Lane was to have the command.

D. C. McCullum, formerly manager of the New York & Erie railroad, and confessedly among the first in his profession in this country, was to-day appointed by the secretary of war to take charge of and operate the railroads taken possession of by the government. The office being military, the rank and pay of colonel was conferred with the appointment.

It is probable that an important command in Texas will be entrusted to General Fremont, and that for reasons of obvious fitness the troops assigned to him will be exclusively Germans.

President Lincoln to-day voluntarily appeared before the house judiciary committee, and gave testimony in the matter of the premature publication in the Herald of a portion of his last annual message. Wykoff was then brought before the committee and answered the question which he refused yesterday, stating, as is rumored, that the stolen paragraph was furnished to the Herald by Watt, the president's gardener, who was reported as disloyal by the Potter committee, and whose nomination to a lieutenancy the senate so decidedly refused to confirm.

Gen. Sherman, at Baufort, proposes that the government shall take charge of the plantations coming into into its hands, and shall raise the cotton, employ and pay the negroes, keeping the latter under a strict but kind discipline of overseers. He also proposes that suitable teachers be provided for the blacks, and that religious instructions be given.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 13th, VIA BEAR CREEK, Feb. 14th.

Special to St. Louis.—Our troops took possession of Springfield to-day, without firing a gun. Price evacuated the place yesterday afternoon, marching out on the Fayetteville road.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 14.

The following dispatch was forwarded from headquarters this morning to General McClellan:

TO GEN. MCCLELLAN, Washington:

The flag of the Union now floats over the court house in Springfield. The enemy retreated after a short engagement, leaving a large amount of stores and equipage, which was captured by Gen. Curtis. Our cavalry is in close pursuit.

[Signed] H. W. HALLECK, Major General.

FORTRESS MONROE, Feb. 13.

The gunboat Stars and Stripes arrived at noon from Burnside's expedition, with a bearer of dispatches for the government. They report the rout of the rebels to be complete. Three thousand prisoners were captured, and all their gunboats burned or captured, except two, which escaped in the canal. The federal loss, killed, was 42, wounded about 140. Rebels killed, about 30, and their wounded not less than 100. The advance from Hatteras took place Wednesday morning, the expedition consisting of about 60 vessels. The fleet anchored off Stumpy Point that night, and the next day proceeded to the entrance of Croaton Sound. After reconnoisance the attack was commenced on Friday morning, the Underwriter leading the column. The rebel fleet was attacked and dispersed in half an hour by our navy, while the remainder attacked the land batteries. The fight continued till dark.

During the night 10,000 men were landed, and Saturday morning 7,000 more. A masked battery of three guns was soon discovered by the skirmishers, and was attacked in front and on both flanks. The 21st, 25th and 20th Massachusetts, the 9th and 51st New York and the 10th Connecticut were principally engaged. The 25th Massachusetts and 10th Connecticut suffered most severely. The fight last only two or three hours, when the battery was abandoned. Our troops pursued and surrounded the rebel camp and took nearly the whole command prisoners. O. Jennings Wise was shot twice while endeavoring to escape in a boat. Col. Russell of the 10th Connecticut was killed at the head of his regiment. Lieut. Col. D'Monteil of the De'Phineal Zouaves was killed. No other officers were killed above the rank of lieutenant. Our total loss in killed and wounded is less than 200, and the number killed is less than 50.

On Sunday afternoon, a fleet of fifteen gunboats started for Elizabeth City. The place was shelled, and having been evacuated and partially burned by the rebel troops, was occupied. The Seabird was the flagship of Com. Lynch, was boarded, and the gallant commodore escaped by swimming to to the shore.

The news from Elizabeth City was received at Roanoke Island on Monday evening. Gen. Wise was at Nag's Head, and succeeded in escaping to Norfolk.

The rebels made no fight after being driven from their entrenchments, which was done by Hawkins' Zouaves and 1st —. Young Wise resisted the storming parties, but he was wounded and carried off, when his command retreated with the others to the upper part of the island, where they laid down their arms. Elizabeth City was about half burnt by rebel troops.

The people sent off a deputation to Com. Goldsborough asking him to send a force to assist in extinguishing the flames.

Edenton was taken possession of on Wednesday, by Com. Goldsborough, no opposition being offered.

Norfolk and Richmond papers attribute the loss of Roanoke Island to the blundering inefficiency of the navy. They still persist in asserting that 1000 federals were killed. They also charged some Roanoke Island farmers with deserting and piloting the Yankees to the only point they could effect a landing, the landing being flanked on all sides by an extensive marsh.

Dispatches from Memphis to Norfolk admit that the federal flag was cheered on Tennessee river, and they assert that the federals neither seized or destroyed any private property, not even cotton.

Gov. Letcher has issued an order for the formation of home guards for Norfolk, Petersburg and Richmond.

Bishop Ames and Hon. H. Fish return to Baltimore, the rebels refusing to receive them.

The Richmond Dispatch says: Our Tennessee exchanges give us gloomy prospects for the future in that part of the confederacy. Several leading journals intimate plainly that there is really a threatening state of affairs in East Tennessee, growing out of the idolatrous love of many of those people to the old Union.

The correspondent of the Memphis Avalanche writes that the condition of the interior counties is not improved by the lapse of time. The people apprehend an immediate advance of the northmen, and traitors to the south evince their joy in every village and neighborhood. The Unionists are making demonstrations in many of the northern counties, and even at Memphis there were exhibitions of joy on the arrival of the news from Beach Grove. Armed bands of Johnson's and Maynard's followers are prowling about in all directions thro' the mountains on the remote counties.—Many have been shot at night in their houses, who adhered to the fortunes of the south.

Official Paper of the City.

Forever float that standard sheet!
Where breathes the foe but falls before us?
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!

The News.

We have at last intelligence direct from Burnside's expedition. The previous accounts are confirmed, except that the loss on both sides is very much less than reported by the rebels.

Springfield, Mo., is in possession of our troops. Price is not "bagged," and the federal army is at last back again just where Fremont left it.

Fort Donelson.

It is understood that the attack on this fort will be made to-day. Greater preparations have been made for it than for the assault upon Fort Henry. The gunboats will take a part in the affair, under the command Com. Foote. A large addition has been made to the number of the troops, under the command of Gen. Grant. We notice that at one time 11 transports went up from Cairo together. We are also informed that the supply of cannon is in larger proportion than upon any previous military enterprise. It is expected that a fierce resistence will be made, but the preparations on our side have been so ample that a failure is scarcely possible.

Fort Donelson is situated on the Cumberland river, 12 miles east of Fort Henry, below the crossing of the railroad which leads from Columbus to Nashville and Bowling Green.

An Unpleasant Development.

A circumstance has just transpired which shows how easily the good nature and friendly impulses of President Lincoln are imposed upon by designing and unscrupulous knaves, who congregate about Washington, we believe, in greater numbers than any other place on earth.

The famous, or rather infamous "Chevalier" Wickoff has been prowling about the presidential mansion of late, and by his unequaled impudence, became a visitor there upon somewhat familiar terms. Recently he was charged with having received, in a clandestine manner, a portion of the President's last annual message, which he transmitted for publication to the New York Herald, before it was laid before congress. For this, he was arrested and brought before a committee of the house, and required to divulge the name of the person from whom he received it. This he refused to do, and was placed in close custody for a contempt of the house.

Yesterday the President went before the committee and gave his testimony in relation to the matter. Afterwards Wickoff admitted that he received the document from Watt, the President's gardner, who purloined it. This Watt has long been known to be disloyal, and the President was informed of it by Judge Potter, chairman of the investigating committee, but no attention was paid to the warning for several weeks.—Finally, Watt was dismissed, but it was not long before he received an appointment as second lieutenant in the regular army, to the great surprise of Mr. Lincoln's friends. The President must be convinced that he has been imposed upon, since the development in relation to Wickoff.

We do not believe that in this case, nor in that of Marshal Lamon, whom the President attempts to protect in his scandalous proceedings, Mr. Lincoln would knowingly and willfully countenance men untrue to the country; but it is through the generosity and kindness of his nature that these disreputable persons are permitted to use his friendship, to subserve their own selfish, and in some cases, traitorous designs. It is a dangerous time for those charged with public duties to permit their feelings of friendship to blind the judgment in directing matters of public concern. We trust that President Lincoln will see, in the circumstances of this case, that it is not safe to permit even his nearest friend, not even one who occupies a place in his own family and at his own fireside, to unduly influence him in the discharge of his high and sacred public trusts.

WASHINGTON CITY PRISON.—The prison at Washington City grows worse, notwithstanding the airing it received in the senate not long since, and the late orders of Secretary Seward. Marshal Lamon, according to Senator Wilson's statement, permits the most horrible atrocities to be committed there upon fugitive slaves. One was immured in the dungeon after a futile effort to escape, and then sent to the Baltimore slave pen. He said he considered the senate responsible for the continuance of these things, since it had confirmed Marshal Lamon. Mr. Hale said the president who was responsible, had taken no notice of the senate's unanimous condemnation of Lamon. Mr. Wilson has introduced a bill in the senate, taking the control out of the hands of Lamon, and giving it to the district jail warden, for whose appointment it provides, conferring upon him the exclusive custody and control of the Washington jail, with all powers and functions now legally executed and discharged by Marshal Lamon.

Test of the Mortar Boats.

[Special Correspondence of the Missouri Democrat.]

CAIRO, Feb 9, 1862.

In respect to the efficiency of the mortar boats constructed at St. Louis at the suggestion of Gen. Fremont, there have been many doubts in the minds of well meaning persons, including a number of army and navy officers. They have been thought clumsy, insufficient in their bulwarks, incapable of bearing the heavy mortars designed for them, and beyond all question incapable of resisting the terrible concussion which would attend the firing of a thirteen-inch shell.

All these opinions and prognostications have been overthrown to-day by the experiment made under the superintendence of Capt. Constable, and before a committee of three, composed of himself, Capt. Kilty, of the gunboat Mound City, and Capt. Dove, of the gunboat Louisville.

One of the mortar boats, No. 35, was taken in tow this morning, by three steam tugs and conveyed to a point a few hundred yards below Fort Holt, on the Kentucky shore. The huge mortar had previously been placed on board, and fixed upon one of Rodman's mortar carriages or beds. Ten or twelve of the thirteen-inch shells were prepared, filled, however, with wet sand instead of powder, the object of the experiment simply being to ascertain the range of the mortar and the effect of the firing upon the various parts of the boat. The boat was fastened to the shore and the mortar directed down the river, which from that point stretches away in a broad and straight sheet of water five or six miles towards Columbus.

Everything having been got in readiness, Capt. Constable fired a small charge of four pounds of powder for the purpose of "scaling" the mortar. The first experiment with a shell then followed, with a charge of eleven pounds of powder. When all was ready the boat was cleared of the company, most of us retiring to the shore, Capt. Constable alone remaining to discharge the gun. Ready! fire! A deafening concussion, and in an instant the huge shell was seen mounting in the air with a magnificent curve, and its terrible roar gradually diminishing as its distance from us rapidly increased. It may have risen to the height of half a mile, and was almost lost to view before it began to make its descending curve.

On its disappearance our eyes were eagerly directed to the river's level to mark its fall. It was wonderful to wait so long, the seconds lengthening out as it seemed to minutes. The suspense was relieved by the sudden shooting up from the water's line of a white column of spray far down the Mississippi, and as it was estimated, two miles and a half away from us. The mortar boat was scarcely moved by the explosion, and the mortar carriage recoiled but two or three inches. This was very encouraging.

The second experiment was made with 20 pounds of powder, Capt. Constable again discharging the gun. The concussion was terrific. Some distance in the rear of the boat, where I was standing, it was not painful, but those who remained alongside and in the boat were considerably shocked.—The shell rose beautifully, mounting much higher in the air, and at the expiration of 29½ (twenty-nine and one-half) seconds struck the water at an estimated distance of three miles. This concussion showed itself very palpably upon the boat. The hatchway coverings in the front part were lifted off, and in some cases broken and split, while the boat itself recoiled some two or three feet, and penetrated the soft bank of the river.

Experiment number three was made with the full charge of twenty three pounds of powder. The time of the flight of the ball was thirty-one seconds, and the distance three and a half miles. The recoil of the gun carriage was about two feet, and the effect of the concussion upon the loose wooden work of the boat was the same as in the previous shot.

Experiment number four gave results similar to number three, Capt. Paulding, of the gunboat St. Louis, discharging the gun in the place of Capt. Constable. Capt. Paulding describes the concussion as very stunning and painful, and thinks it could not be endured within the bulwarks of the mortar boat by any man for more than eight or ten consecutive shots.

Number five was with but fifteen pounds of powder, the mortar in this case being elevated to more than forty-five degrees. The shell was twenty-eight seconds in the air, and seemed to fall as far away as any of the preceding ones, which led to the opinion in the minds of the committee, that a lighter charge of powder was quite as efficient as a full twenty-three pound charge.

The mortar boats are about sixty feet long, and twenty-five feet wide, surrounded on all sides by iron-plate bulwarks, six or seven feet high. The mortar itself weighs 17,210 pounds; has a bore easily admitting a 13-inch shell, and from the edge of the bore to the outside rim is 17 inches. The mortar bed weighs 4,500 pounds, and from the experiment of to-day, is pronounced by Captain Constable to be the most admirable mortar carriage yet invented. The shell filled with wet sand weighed 230 pounds, an enormous missile to be hurled through the air a distance farther than from the levee to Grand avenue, in your city. Filled with powder these shells will weigh 215 pounds, and can be thrown at least a half a mile farther than were those filled with the sand.

Say, twenty of these mortar boats drop down to within easy reach of Columbus, and at the same time be out of the reach of the best rifled cannon the rebels may bring to bear—so small, indeed, at a distance of three and half or four miles as scarcely to be discernable on the surface of the water. Say further, that each of these boats will fire, at a very low estimate, four shells an hour. Then twenty of them would discharge eighty shell an hour, with perfect impunity, and at this rate for one night of ten hours eight hundred of these terrific missiles may be thrown into the rebel camp and fortifications. Can they endure it? Pandemonium would be a Paradise to the place it would make of Columbus.

The trial of to-day demonstrated that the recoil of the boat was altogether lateral, and not perpendicular, as it was feared it would be. It also shows that the iron bulwarks render the concussion more severe than it would be without them, and that if they are permitted to remain, some plan will have to be devised by which the gunners at each discharge may get outside of them. Illustrating the effects of the concussion is the circumstance that the cap of the gunner who discharged the 15-pound charge was carried away from his head, and he almost taken off his feet.

Another objection to the boat, discovered to-day, was its construction at the bow and stern. Unless towed very slowly, both up and down stream, it dipped the water considerably. These, however, are all minor objections, and easily got rid of. The boats will admirably serve the purpose for which they were designed, and prove the most terrible engines of destruction the enemy have yet had to encounter. Yours, &c.,

G. W. F.

☞ The extra appropriation of eleven thousand dollars, for expenditures at the White House, has passed both houses of congress. "Plain people" have an idea that the President's mansion would have been comfortable enough with the regular appropriation, without any extras.

Correspondence of the Daily Gazette.

From the Second Regiment.

CAMP TILLINGHAST, Virginia, February 9th, 1862.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—The past five weeks have been very disagreeable for camp life—nothing but rain and mud. The roads have been in a very bad condition, and they are not much better now. I do not know in what way things will shape if this state of affairs continues much longer; but then it cannot last long. If it does, it will be necessary for us to purchase a scow to cross the road to visit our friends in the 7th.—They are a noble body of men, and will do good service in the field when once they have the opportunity. If the roads were smooth, I do not think that the army would remain here many days. The troops are healthy, in good spirits and eager for an opportunity to meet the rebels on soil of their own choosing. The story would soon be told. The army of the Potomac has been encamped on and near its banks for six long months, with nothing to arouse them except now and then the announcement of a victory over the rebels by some other division of the army or the navy.—Late there has nothing of any importance transpired at this point worthy of notice, except the capture of a few rebels. Sunday last, the 2d, Col. Harris of the 2d Virginia cavalry, and his escort, came to our lines under a flag of truce, bearing dispatches from Gen. A. T. Johnson, commanding the rebel army at Centerville, to Gen. McClellan. The colonel was brought blindfolded to the Arlington House, and the dispatches sent to headquarters. What the nature of them was I am unable to say; as it has not been made public. The answer in all probability has been sent back, though nothing is known respecting it.

The news from Tennessee and the west is very encouraging, and has created a lively feeling in the different camps on the Potomac. Friday last a detachment of Cameron dragoons, on a scouting expedition, proceeded out beyond Fairfax Court House, surprising and taking prisoners 13 rebel cavalry men. During the exchange of shots a captain and sergeant of the dragoons were wounded.

Georgetown is a famous place, being a hot-bed of rattle-headed, rabid secessionists. The city of Washington also contains many disloyal inhabitants. The state of Maryland needs only a defeat of the federal army to show her sentiment. But the time for defeats has passed by. It is now our turn for victories. The farmers who reside here are very scattering, and those that are here the most awkward, ignorant and superstitious class of human beings that ever inhabited any civilized country. It is a mystery how they can live here. White beans would not grow in the part of Virginia that I have seen. I should prefer a few feet of land on Magnolia Bluffs, to a section of land here.

The health of our regiment is very good, but few are in the hospital. There has been much said through the columns of the newspapers of the demoralization of the 2d regiment. If those correspondents would attend to their own affairs and let the 2d alone, there would not be such a bitter animosity between us as there is at present.—Our officers, I think, are equally as good in military knowledge as any in the brigade, if they do not excel them, which I think they do.

To our friends I would say that we should be happy to hear from them as often as convenient. To-day is rather chilly and cloudy, the drums are beating for roll call, and I must close. E. T. W.

Correspondence of the Daily Gazette.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11, 1862.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—Your correspondent had set apart this night to attend the theater, but upon consulting the programme he found the principal play to consist of an Indian tragedy; so, knowing the character of the Indian pretty well, and having seen enough of the real Indian in Kansas, and elsewhere, he is not particularly anxious to give fifty cents to see any delineation of it, whatever; he therefore has concluded to relieve your anxiety as to his whereabouts, and drop you a line with a small hook, poorly baited, from this city.

This is a goodly city, but I do not mean to describe it. It contains many fine buildings, public and private, but I don't mean to describe them. It is full of secesh, but they are miserable scamps generally, and as our army is bound to "pursue, take and destroy" them, I will pass them by and content myself with the journey of a day in, about and around this aforesaid goodly city. In the morning I set out to visit the hospitals, but on knocking for admission was informed that this was not "visiting day," and not being provided with a talismanic open sesame, from governor or medical director, could not come in; being good looking would not do. I could not learn as there was any Wisconsin boys in there, therefore was not so anxious.

After my repulse at the hospital, concluded to try my luck at the post office, where I had better luck. The postmaster himself was not at home. Strange that they wont attend to their business! What right has a P. M. to be absent? but his assistant, Mr. Smith, received me very kindly, and courteously showed me through the institution. It is a very respectable concern, well arranged and ably conducted—that is, for St. Louis; of course it don't compare with yours. Ah, the people of Janesville are very fortunate in their P. M.; they should appreciate him, I do. I also paid a visit to the editors' room of the Missouri Democrat, where I was very courteously received also, but the editor-in-chief, Mr. Fishback, the only one with whom I had any acquaintance, was at Cairo, or up the Tennessee river, consequently I did not prolong the call. By this time it had approached the dinner hour, when I repaired to mine inn, where I met a live major general, Halleck, and saw him feed. He is a fair sized man, not so large as Gen. Scott, nor so small as Gen. Thumb, but well made, with a dark grey eye, a firm mouth, intelligent face and magnificent forehead, projecting well over the eyes; but his nose is contemptible—one of those nondescript, neither Roman nor Grecian, aqualine or snub noses, but concave on the top and ending in a point sharp enough for a tooth-pick. Bah! Still, he is a good looking man, and is proving himself to be a pretty good manager. He puts on no airs, is unassuming and accessible, wears citizen's dress, relishes good wine, and eats as if he loved it. He is pretty well calculated for this meridian.

After dinner I took the cars for Camp Benton. On the way I made the acquaintance of Capt. J. L. McCloud, of Co. F, 3d Michigan cavalry, who very politely conducted me through the camp, and showed me all that was to be seen, which, by the way, was not worth recording. There are only about four thousand troops in camp here now mostly cavalry. I also struck an acquaintance with a private of the 3d Iowa cavalry, but a citizen of Missouri, who told me that his father was in the secesh army. When asked if he would shoot him if he met him in battle, he answered no, but should try hard to capture him, though.

I also took a good look at the Missouri state fair grounds, which are located adjoining the camp, and are said to be the finest in the United States. I shall not describe them, but content myself with saying that the grounds are good, the fence firm, the stalls substantial, the trees true to nature, the ampitheatre ample, and the whole a credit to the city and state.

The secessionists have ugly looking faces over the news from the Tennessee river and Roanoke Island; but the Unionists, particularly the female variety, look beautiful. These warm days appear to be thawing out the anaconda; the mud is bad for him however, but let us hope that he wont get paralyzed or dormant again, but continue to contract himself and tighten his folds until this rebellion is crushed, and the scoundrels who inaugurated it.

The weather here is fine and warm to-day, and the mud abundant. There is considerable ice running in the river, but it is small and soft and does not endanger navigation. Off for Cairo to-morrow.

Yours, etc., VOX.

Last Night's Report.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.

The steamer Baltic arrived and brings 700 bales of cotton and the crews of the stone fleet. Eight rebel prisoners were also brought and placed in Fort Lafayette, who were captured in a skirmish. The weather was getting very warm and heavy rains. Contrabands were still gathering cotton, and their numbers fast increasing. Gen. Sherman has succeeded in excluding all reporters from his lines. Several regiments had left Hilton Head for the foot of Dawfus Key Island, the nearest point to Fort Pulaski that can be occupied except Tybee. Several gun boats, a schooner, and a number of flats with Parrot guns, howitzers and mortars accompanied the expedition. Tatnall's gunboats soon after made their appearance, and three ran the gauntlet to Fort Pulaski. Stevens' brigade was prevented from forming a junction on account of obstructions in the river. Fort Pulaski is said to be in as bad a situation as Fort Sumter was. Our engineers are driving piles to —— Island for a road and for a foundation for batteries. This island lies between our forces and Fort Jackson. Our forces make advances every day. Fort Jackson is to be taken and Savannah will soon be captured.

Another account says the expedition left Monday, including all the gunboats, and transports sufficient for the shipment of 12,000 troops, which will go through Callabaga Sound into Savannah river, without coming within range of Pulaski's guns. The rebels have withdrawn a large number of troops from Charleston and Port Royal to Savannah. Twelve thousand troops were to leave Monday to take the railroad, and thence to Charleston. Three regiments of cavalry will join them; also several artillery regiments. Weather beautiful, and troops enthusiastic.

LEAVENWORTH, Feb. 12.

Major General Hunter made a formal call on Senator Lane yesterday. Matters in regard to the southern expedition remains in statu quo. Lane has not resigned his senatorship. No movements of troops of particular moment have taken place within the last two weeks. The 13th Wisconsin have gone to Fort Scott.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13.

The Republican's Fort Henry correspondence gives further particulars of the Tennessee river gunboat expedition. Everywhere the people insisted upon loading their visitors with presents, and the river can be navigated almost as safely as the Ohio. Blessings, cheers and the wildest enthusiasm greeted the gunboats every where. Numbers of prominet men came forward and said that should the Union army enter Tennessee, 50,000 men were ready and anxious to protect their homes, &c.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.

The military committee of the senate have unanimously reported in favor of Gen. Smith's confirmation, but no definite action has yet been taken.

Secretary Stanton is confined to his house by a slight illness.

The California delegation, and others, were before the committee on ways and means yesterday about the overland mail to California. The committee decided to report an appropriation for it.

A highly complimentary dispatch was sent from the navy department, last Sunday, to Commodere Foote.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13.

A Cairo special to the Democrat says that passengers by the Evansville packet report passing at Paducah this morning eleven transports laden with troops.

The forty-sixth, thirty-first, and fortieth Illinois, a battalion of the twenty-ninth Illinois, and a company of the eighth Wisconsin left here this afternoon.

Signal fire balloons, apparently sent up from Mayfield by the rebels, have been seen from here for the past three nights. Advices from Fort Henry say much reliance is placed on the 20-pound rifled Parrott guns of the first Missouri artillery, three batteries of which are there under Major Cavender. Four more regiments reached there last night.

Our reconnoitering parties went within one mile of Fort Donelson yesterday, and a squadron of cavalry barely escaped capture by 900 rebel cavalry, supported by infantry.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.

Tribune's Correspondence.—Sen. Sumner's relolution on the relations between the United States and the rebel territory, were laid on the table at his motion, where they can be followed up whenever he thinks best.

A bill organizing the rebel territory into territorial governments, on the principles of these resolutions, will shortly be reported by the territorial committees of the two houses. Another bill establishing a provisional government, since it has been sanctioned in one important quarter.

No decision has been reached by the war department in the Hunter and Lane matter. Gen. Lane is still waiting at Leavenworth for news from Washington. We have the authority of Mr. Covode for saying that he made the original arrangement with Secretary Cameron, by which the government agreed to furnish Gen. Lane with the troops he wanted, and that throughout the negotiations Mr. Hunter's name was not uttered, and there was no intimation that any one except Gen. Lane was to have the command.

D. C. McCullum, formerly manager of the New York & Erie railroad, and confessedly among the first in his profession in this country, was to-day appointed by the secretary of war to take charge of and operate the railroads taken possession of by the government. The office being military, the rank and pay of colonel was conferred with the appointment.

It is probable that an important command in Texas will be entrusted to General Fremont, and that for reasons of obvious fitness the troops assigned to him will be exclusively Germans.

President Lincoln to-day voluntarily appeared before the house judiciary committee, and gave testimony in the matter of the premature publication in the Herald of a portion of his last annual message. Wykoff was then brought before the committee and answered the question which he refused yesterday, stating, as is rumored, that the stolen paragraph was furnished to the Herald by Watt, the president's gardener, who was reported as disloyal by the Potter committee, and whose nomination to a lieutenancy the senate so decidedly refused to confirm.

Gen. Sherman, at Baufort, proposes that the government shall take charge of the plantations coming into into its hands, and shall raise the cotton, employ and pay the negroes, keeping the latter under a strict but kind discipline of overseers. He also proposes that suitable teachers be provided for the blacks, and that religious instructions be given.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 13th,
VIA BEAR CREEK Feb. 14th.

Special to St. Louis.—Our troops took possession of Springfield to-day, without firing a gun. Price evacuated the place yesterday afternoon, marching out on the Fayetteville road.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 14.

The following dispatch was forwarded from headquarters this morning to General McClellan:

To GEN. MCCLELLAN, Washington:

The flag of the Union now floats over the court house in Springfield. The enemy retreated after a short engagement, leaving a large amount of stores and equipage, which was captured by Gen. Curtis. Our cavalry is in close pursuit.

[Signed] H. W. HALLECK,
Major General.

FORTRESS MONROE, Feb. 13.

The gunboat Stars and Stripes arrived at noon from Burnside's expedition, with a bearer of dispatches for the government. They report the rout of the rebels to be complete. Three thousand prisoners were captured, and all their gunboats burned or captured, except two, which escaped in the canal. The federal loss, killed, was 42, wounded about 140. Rebels killed, about 30, and their wounded not less than 100. The advance from Hatteras took place Wednesday morning, the expedition consisting of about 60 vessels. The fleet anchored off Stumpy Point that night, and the next day proceeded to the entrance of Croatan Sound. After reconnoisance the attack was commenced on Friday morning, the Underwriter leading the column. The rebel fleet was attacked and dispersed in half an hour by our navy, while the remainder attacked the land batteries. The fight continued till dark.

During the night 10,000 men were landed, and Saturday morning 7,000 more. A masked battery of three guns was soon discovered by the skirmishers, and was attacked in front and on both flanks. The 21st, 25th and 20th Massachusetts, the 9th and 51st New York and the 10th Connecticut were principally engaged. The 25th Massachusetts and 10th Connecticut suffered most severely. The fight last only two or three hours, when the battery was abandoned. Our troops pursued and surrounded the rebel camp and took nearly the whole command prisoners. O. Jennings Wise was shot twice while endeavoring to escape in a boat. Col. Russell of the 10th Connecticut was killed at the head of his regiment. Lieut. Col. D'Monteil of the De'Phineal Zouaves was killed. No other officers were killed above the rank of lieutenant. Our total loss in killed and wounded is less than 200, and the number killed is less than 50.

On Sunday afternoon a fleet of fifteen gunboats started for Elizabeth City. The place was shelled, and having been evacuated and partially burned by the rebel troops, was occupied. The Seabird was the flagship of Com. Lynch, was boarded, and the gallant commodore escaped by swimming to to the shore.

The news from Elizabeth City was received at Roanoke Island on Monday evening. Gen. Wise was at Nag's Head, and succeeded in escaping to Norfolk.

The rebels made no fight after being driven from their entrenchments, which was done by Hawkins' Zouaves and 1st —. Young Wise resisted the storming parties, but he was wounded and carried off, when his command retreated with the others to the upper part of the island, where they laid down their arms. Elizabeth City was about half burnt by rebel troops.

The people sent off a deputation to Com. Goldsborough asking him to send a force to assist in extinguishing the flames.

Edenton was taken possession of on Wednesday, by Com. Goldsborough, no opposition being offered.

Norfolk and Richmond papers attribute the loss of Roanoke Island to the blundering inefficiency of the navy. They still persist in asserting that 1000 federals were killed. They also charged some Roanoke Island farmers with deserting and piloting the Yankees to the only point they could effect a landing, the landing being flanked on all sides by an extensive marsh.

Dispatches from Memphis to Norfolk admit that the federal flag was cheered on Tennessee river, and they assert that the federals neither seized or destroyed any private property, not even cotton.

Gov. Letcher has issued an order for the formation of home guards for Norfolk, Petersburg and Richmond.

Bishop Ames and Hon. H. Fish return to Baltimore, the rebels refusing to receive them.

The Richmond Dispatch says: Our Tennessee exchanges give us gloomy prospects for the future in that part of the confederacy. Several leading journals intimate plainly that there is really a threatening state of affairs in East Tennessee, growing out of the idolatrous love of many of those people to the old Union.

The correspondent of the Memphis Avalanche writes that the condition of the interior counties is not improved by the lapse of time. The people apprehend an immediate advance of the northmen, and traitors to the south evince their joy in every village and neighborhood. The Unionists are making demonstrations in many of the northern counties, and even at Memphis there were exhibitions of joy on the arrival of the news from Beach Grove. Armed bands of Johnson's and Maynard's followers are prowling about in all directions thro' the mountains on the remote counties.—Many have been shot at night in their houses, who adhered to the fortunes of the south.

Flour 5c better; sales of 10,500 bbls at 5,55a5,70 for super western; 5,90a6,00 for common to medium extra western. Wheat dull and prices nominally unchanged.

A WILD BOAR IN IOWA.—The people of Palo Alto county, Iowa, have been terribly excited over a wild boar of gigantic proportions. They captured the animal after a long hunt, and found it to be a veritable boar of the Westphalian species; and the question now arises, where did it come from?

Overland mail from Janesville to Milwaukee arrives Monday and Friday at 7 P M; closes Tuesday and Saturday at 4 A M.

J. M. BURGESS, Postmaster.

☞ The bill for a relevy of taxes in Janesville and Beloit, which passed the senate, was recalled from that body yesterday, and Beloit stricken from it. It was doubtful whether it would be constitutional to include both cities in one bill. Another similar bill will be introduced for the benefit of Beloit.

ON A FURLOUGH.—Capt. Britton arrived here yesterday, on a short furlough. He will leave for Cairo next Tuesday, to rejoin his company. He thinks the 8th regiment will be held in reserve for the attack on Columbus.

CITIZEN'S PARTY.—A party, for which extensive arrangements are making, will be given at the Hyatt House next Tuesday. The list of managers, outside of Rock county, embraces prominent citizens in Milwaukee, Madison and Green county. It will undoubtedly be a very large and pleasant party, combining the characteristics of a military with a citizen' festival.

APPOINTMENT OF SUTLER.—Wm. Murdock, having received the appointment of sutler of Col. Barstow's cavalry regiment, has supplied his store with a good stock of such goods as are required by the soldiers in camp. From our knowledge of Mr. Murdock, we venture the prediction that he will prove a popular provider for the wants of the regiment. A. G. Allen is his clerk.

COLD AGAIN.—The mercury stood at 14° below zero in this city, this morning at eight o'clock. There was a change of about 24° in twelve hours.

GOV. RANDALL AT WASHINGTON.—The Washington correspondent of the Madison Journal says:

"Gov. Randall is still here, and it is yet uncertain whether he will enter upon his duties as minister to Rome, or whether he will accept a military position, for which he is warmly pressed."

Gov. Randall would adorn the court of Rome, and we hope he will conclude to accept the position.

Notice has been received from the adjutant general of the United States army of the resignations of Col. Jos. Vandor, and 2d Lieutenant L. Kromer, of the 7th regiment.

☞ It is said that complete plans and specifications of our gunboats were found in Fort Henry. This is not astonishing since they were published, in detail, in the St. Louis papers, two months ago.

☞ Truman G. Wright, paymaster in the army, has been assigned to duty at Madison, where he will pay the volunteers in the state.

A SNEEZING COURT.—The Cincinnati Commercial must be responsible for the following "sneezer."

During the examination of Minkhouse and Leavy, for an outrage upon the person of an idiot girl, some person or persons, not having a due sense of the awful majesty of the law or dignity of the court, scattered a villainous mixture of snuff, Cayenne pepper, Bay berry bark, and most probably a slight sprinkling of cowage about the room. It happened at the time that the audience was extremely large, and of that discription that generally congregate about the purlieus of a court of justice. The insinuating dust soon began to take effect, a concert of sneezing mixed with coughing first, among the outsiders, made it impossible to understand one word from either the judge, lawyer, witness or prisoner.

"Silence," shouted the marshal.

"Si-an-ch-cheo-lance," sneezed the deputy.

By this time the epedemic had extended to within the bar, and there was as much coughing and sneezing as was ever heard within the House of representatives during the prosy speech of an unpopular orator.

"Open the—ugh-win cheo-chee- cheedoor—oh, Lord!" exclaimed the prosecuting attorney.

"I suggest—ah-chee-te-that they be chitz-turned out," gasped another lawyer.

The judge who by this time had coughed and sneezed until his face was as red as the comb of a turkey cock, was struck by the idea, and a posse of officers being called from below; cleared the room of the unhappy multitude, who upon their egress into the street gave such a concerted diabolical sneeze, that a couple of horses hitched outside, became scared, and breaking their bridles scampered frantically away.

There is reason to suppose that some ungodly culprit, the pores of whose pocket had been opened for misdemeanor, had taken this method to retaliate, by opening the pores of the court's olfactories.

COMMODORE FOOTE IN THE PULPIT.—To-day Commodore Foote attended the Presbyterian church. A large congregation was in attendance, but the preacher did not make his appearance. A general impatience beginning to manifest itself, the commodore sought the elder of the church, and urged him to perform the services. The elder refusing, the commodore, on the impulse of the moment, took the pulpit, read a chapter in the Bible, prayed and delivered a short discourse from the text "Let not your hearts be troubled. Ye believe in God—believe also in us." The congregation was delighted. On coming down from the pulpit, the minister, who had arrived just after the prayer, approached and tendered his thanks, but the commodore rebuked him for his tardiness of duty, and reproached him for his neglect to take the pulpit immediately on his arrival. This incident is illustrative of the commodore's energetic, earnest character and sincere piety.—Correspondence of St. Louis Democrat.

A NOVEL LIBEL.—The notorious and ridiculous Count Johannes has brought a libel suit against Joseph Nickerson, a well known member of the Boston bar. The alleged libel consisted in the sending to the plaintiff a note, enclosed in an envelope, on one corner of which was the engraving of a jackass, with a printed motto, "After nature's own sweet pattern." This note was sent to the house where the plaintiff boards, and was placed by the landlord of the house where it could be seen by all the boarders.

Legislative.

SENATE.—A joint resolution passed the Senate Thursday morning providing for amending the constitution so as to fix a salary of $250 for members of the legislature instead of a per diem. A bill was introduced for the enrollment and organization of the militia of the state; also a bill was passed to prevent the sale of liquors to soldiers within three miles of any encampment in the state. The object of this bill is to prevent the sale of intoxicating liquors in camp. It was asked for by several officers, and it is supposed that it will have an excellent effect in the discipline of he encampments. It imposes a fine of $25 for each offence, and in case of failure to pay, the offender may be imprisoned till it is paid, or until discharged by due course of law. The bill extending aid to volunteers was considered. It modifies the law of last session so as to provide for the payment of $5 per month to the wives of volunteers, or to children under fourteen years of age. In this shape it was ordered to a third reading. A motion to reconsider the resolution relative to bienrial sessions of the legislature was lost.

ASSEMBLY.—The select committee upon the hospital for the insane was empowered to send for persons and papers in order to investigate charges made respecting the managers of that institution.

The senate resolution to amend the constitution providing for biennial sessions of the legislature was concurred in, but subsequently reconsidered, in order that the resolution might be returned to the senate, in compliance with the wish of that body.

The bill authorizing the suspension of specie payment by our banks was made the special order for one week from Wednesday next.

A bill repealing the dog law was ordered to a third reading.

TESTIMONIALS.

Judge Cole of Madison, writes—"As to your qualifications as a teacher, permit me to say, that I want no other testimonials upon that point than your most beautifully written and handsomely expressed letter"

Wm. B Martin, Esq., of New York, says—"I have great confidence in your ability to secure success."

Dr. J. A. Smith, the accomplished Editor of the Christian Times, after saying that he had enjoyed ample means of knowing her qualities as a practical teacher of young ladies, adds—"Her scholarship, energy, tact, and kindness eminently qualify her, in my judgment, for the position she contemplates in Janesville, and I am happy to commend her school to general confidence and patronage."

Rev. W. A. Niles, of Corning, N. Y, in a letter to Rev. M. P. Kinney, "heartily" endorses her and says "She is a Noble Woman. * * * I wish her the eminent success of which she is worthy."

Miss Mary B. Allen certifies—"Mrs. Anderson was for seven years head teacher in the Allen Seminary, Rochester, N. Y, and if she had not been better than other teachers, and all that I desired, I should not have employed her but one term."

Dr. Shaw, of Rochester, after commending Mrs. Anderson and referring parties to Miss Allen's testimonial, says—"Miss Allen is a woman among a thousand. You can believe every word she says."

Mr. Velastow of Chittenango, N. Y., under date of January, 1861, endeavoring to secure her services in his seminary, says—"I should be willing to pay most any reasonable salary for the sake of procuring your assistance."

Hon. Francis Kernon, Utica, N. Y, Hon. E. W. Leavenworth, of New York, and Gold T. Curtis, of Minnesota, Rev. Mr. Boynton, of Watertown, and others, warmly recommended her to the confidence of the public.

Professors Dewey, Kendrick, Quimby, Richardson, and President Anderson of the University of Rochester, with Dr. Shaw, Darius Perrin, President of Perrin's Bank, Jason Baker, County Treasurer, Hon. L. W. D. Moore, and John E. Nash, Mayor of Rochester, unite in the following testimonial—"We the undersigned recommend her as a faithful and efficient instructor in the branches taught in our higher schools and seminaries. Her influence on the mind and manners of the young ladies under her care cannot be too highly prized."

I have selected the above expressions from a large number of letters which can be seen by applying to Mrs. Anderson, of whose talents and tact as a teacher, and culture as a christian lady, I entertain a very high opinion.

E. J. GOODSPEED.

We cheerfully acquiesce in the sentiments expressed above, and cordially commend Mrs. Anderson and her school to the patronage of the public.

Jessup's Seed Drill.

RANDOLPH, Dodge Co, Wis, Jan 14th, 1862.

Mr. R. J. Richardson, Sir:—I learn that you are manufacturing the Jessup Grain Drills. I came here from York state the last of March, 1859 and sold fourteen of Jessup's first patent. The next spring, after closing my winter school, I sold eighteen, and last spring after closing my school I sold thirty six of Jessup's Improved Drills, such as I learn you are making.

Now I wish to ask you if you can furnish me with some of the ten and eleven tooth drills for next spring's use. I do not think of ordering more than twenty at present. Those I sold last spring gave entire satisfaction. Please reply immediately. Yours,

The Jessup Seed Drill.

THE following certificates have been given by persons using the Jessup Seed Drill:

FULTON.

Mr. Soverhill:—I take pleasure in saying that the Jessup Drill which I purchased of you last spring operates to my entire satisfaction. The draft is light, it distributes the grain very evenly and accurately, and there is no possibility of its cracking the grain. I am acquainted with the operation of many different drills and can cheerfully recommend the Jessup as a superior one. Yours, JOB ALLEN.

Mr. Soverhill:—The Jessup Drill I purchased of you last spring operates as well as I could wish it to. I would cheerfully recommend it to any one in want of a drill. WM. SHORT.

Albion, Dane county.

Mr. Soverhill:—I hereby certify that the Jessup Grain Drill I purchased of you last spring works in the most satisfactory manner. I think it a good and durable machine, and worthy the patronage of every good farmer. It is a saving in seed and labor.

Cooksville, Nov. 25, 1861. H. STEBBINS.

I have examined many drills and am satisfied that the Jessup is the best. I used one last spring and like it much. It is very accurate and light draft

Bradford, Dec. 27, 1861. WALTER STONE.

Mr. Soverhill:—We cordially assent to what Mr. Stebbins says about the Jessup Drill.

And in order to fill the same, we found it necessary in the early part of the season, to purchase ten times our usual amount of stock. Anticipating a still further advance on Foreign and Domestic goods, we made another extensive purchase immediately before the great and unprecedented advance which has taken place within the past two weeks. We have now in stock, at our different establishments, over $250,000 Worth of Merchandize!

Every single dollars worth of which was purchased before the advance, and in order to give our patrons a general benefit, we shall, for the

J. M. BURGESS, Postmaster.

☞ The bill for a relevy of taxes in Janesville and Beloit, which passed the senate, was recalled from that body yesterday, and Beloit stricken from it. It was doubtful whether it would be constitutional to include both cities in one bill. Another similar bill will be introduced for the benefit of Beloit.

On a Furlough.—Capt. Britton arrived here yesterday, on a short furlough. He will leave for Cairo next Tuesday, to rejoin his company. He thinks the 8th regiment will be held in reserve for the attack on Columbus.

Citizen's Party.—A party, for which extensive arrangements are making, will be given at the Hyatt House next Tuesday. The list of managers, outside of Rock county, embraces prominent citizens in Milwaukee, Madison and Green county. It will undoubtedly be a very large and pleasant party, combining the characteristics of a military with a citizen' festival.

Appointment of Sutler.—Wm. Murdock, having received the appointment of sutler of Col. Barstow's cavalry regiment, has supplied his store with a good stock of such goods as are required by the soldiers in camp. From our knowledge of Mr. Murdock, we venture the prediction that he will prove a popular provider for the wants of the regiment. A. G. Allen is his clerk.

Cold Again.—The mercury stood at 14° below zero in this city, this morning at eight o'clock. There was a change of about 24° in twelve hours.

Gov. Randall at Washington.—The Washington correspondent of the Madison Journal says:

"Gov. Randall is still here, and it is yet uncertain whether he will enter upon his duties as minister to Rome, or whether he will accept a military position, for which he is warmly pressed."

Gov. Randall would adorn the court of Rome, and we hope he will conclude to accept the position.

Notice has been received from the adjutant general of the United States army of the resignations of Col. Jos. Vandor, and 2d Lieutenant L. Kromer, of the 7th regiment.

☞ It is said that complete plans and specifications of our gunboats were found in Fort Henry. This is not astonishing since they were published, in detail, in the St. Louis papers, two months ago.

☞ Truman G. Wright, paymaster in the army, has been assigned to duty at Madison, where he will pay the volunteers in the state.

A Sneezing Court.—The Cincinnati Commercial must be responsible for the following "sneezer."

During the examination of Minkhouse and Leavy, for an outrage upon the person of on idiot girl, some person or persons, not having a due sense of the awful majesty of the law or dignity of the court, scattered a villainous mixture of snuff, Cayenne pepper, Bay berry bark, and most probably a slight sprinkling of cowage about the room. It happened at the time that the audience was extremely large, and of that discription that generally congregate about the purlieus of a court of justice. The insinuating dust soon began to take effect, a concert of sneezing mixed with coughing first, among the outsiders, made it impossible to understand one word from either the judge, lawyer, witness or prisoner.

"Silence," shouted the marshal.

"Si-an-ch-chee-lance," sneezed the deputy.

By this time the epedemic had extended to within the bar, and there was as much coughing and sneezing as was ever heard within the house of representatives during the prosy speech of an unpopular orator.

"Open the—ugh—win chee-chee- chee-door—oh, Lord!" exclaimed the prosecuting attorney.

"I suggest—ah—chee-te—that they be chitz-turned out," gasped another lawyer.

The judge who by this time had coughed and sneezed until his face was as red as the comb of a turkey cock, was struck by the idea, and a posse of officers being called from below; cleared the room of the unhappy multitude, who upon their egress into the street gave such a concerted diabolical sneeze, that a couple of horses hitched outside, became scared, and breaking their bridles scampered frantically away.

There is reason to suppose that some ungodly culprit, the pores of whose pocket had been opened for misdemeanor, had taken this method to retaliate, by opening the pores of the court's olfactories.

Commodore Foote in the Pulpit.—To-day Commodore Foote attended the Presbyterian church. A large congregation was in attendance, but the preacher did not make his appearance. A general impatience beginning to manifest itself, the commodore sought the elder of the church, and urged him to perform the services. The elder refusing, the commodore, on the impulse of the moment, took the pulpit, read a chapter in the Bible, prayed and delivered a short discourse from the text "Let not your hearts be troubled. Ye believe in God—believe also in us." The congregation was delighted. On coming down from the pulpit, the minister, who had arrived just after the prayer, approached and tendered his thanks, but the commodore rebuked him for his tardiness of duty, and reproached him for his neglect to take the pulpit immediately on his arrival. This incident is illustrative of the commodore's energetic, earnest character and sincere piety.—Correspondence of St. Louis Democrat.

A Novel Libel.—The notorious and ridiculous Count Johannes has brought a libel suit against Joseph Nickerson, a well known member of the Boston bar. The alleged libel consisted in the sending to the plaintiff a note, enclosed in an envelope, on one corner of which was the engraving of a jackass, with a printed motto, "After nature's own sweet pattern." This note was sent to the house where the plaintiff boards, and was placed by the landlord of the house where it could be seen by all the boarders.

Legislative.

Senate.—A joint resolution passed the Senate Thursday morning providing for amending the constitution so as to fix a salary of $250 for members of the legislature instead of a per diem. A bill was introduced for the enrollment and organization of the militia of the state; also a bill was passed to prevent the sale of liquors to soldiers within three miles of any encampment in the state. The object of this bill is to prevent the sale of intoxicating liquors in camp. It was asked for by several officers, and it is supposed that it will have an excellent effect in the discipline of the encampments. It imposes a fine of $25 for each offence, and in case of failure to pay, the offender may be imprisoned till it is paid, or until discharged by due course of law. The bill extending aid to volunteers was considered. It modifies the law of last session so as to provide for the payment of $5 per month to the wives of volunteers, or to children under fourteen years of age. In this shape it was ordered to a third reading. A motion to reconsider the resolution relative to biennial sessions of the legislature was lost.

Assembly.—The select committee upon the hospital for the insane was empowered to send for persons and papers in order to investigate charges made respecting the managers of that institution.

The senate resolution to amend the constitution providing for biennial sessions of the legislature was concurred in, but subsequently reconsidered, in order that the resolution might be returned to the senate, in compliance with the wish of that body.

The bill authorizing the suspension of specie payment by our banks was made the special order for one week from Wednesday next.

A bill repealing the dog law was ordered to a third reading.

TESTIMONIALS.

Judge Cole of Madison, writes—"As to your qualifications as a teacher, permit me to say, that I want no other testimonials upon that point than your most beautifully written and handsomely expressed letter."

Wm. R. Martin, Esq., of New York, says—"I have great confidence in your ability to secure success."

Dr. J. A. Smith, the accomplished Editor of the Christian Times, after saying that he had enjoyed ample means of knowing her qualities as a practical teacher of young ladies, adds—"Her scholarship, energy, tact, and kindness eminently qualify her, in my judgment, for the position she contemplates in Janesville, and I am happy to commend her school to general confidence and patronage."

Rev. W. A. Niles, of Corning, N. Y., in a letter to Rev. M. P. Kinney, "heartily" endorses her and says "She is a Noble Woman. * * * I wish her the eminent success of which she is worthy."

Miss Mary B. Allen certifies—"Mrs. Anderson was for seven years head teacher in the Allen Seminary, Rochester, N. Y., and if she had not been better than other teachers, and all that I desired, I should not have employed her but one term."

Dr. Shaw, of Rochester, after commending Mrs. Anderson and referring parties to Miss Allen's testimonial, says—"Miss Allen is a woman among a thousand. You can believe every word she says."

Mr. Velaskow of Chittenango, N. Y., under date of January, 1861, endeavoring to secure her services in his seminary, says—"I should be willing to pay most any reasonable salary for the sake of procuring your assistance."

Hon. Francis Kernon, Utica, N. Y., Hon. E. W. Leavenworth, of New York, and Gold T. Curtis, of Minnesota, Rev. Mr. Boynton, of Watertown, and others, warmly recommended her to the confidence of the public.

Professors Dewey, Kendrick, Quimby, Richardson, and President Anderson of the University of Rochester, with Dr. Shaw, Darius Perrin, President of Perrin's Bank, Jason Baker, County Treasurer, Hon. L. W. D. Moore, and John E. Nash, Mayor of Rochester, unite in the following testimonial—"We the undersigned recommend her as a faithful and efficient instructor in the branches taught in our higher schools and seminaries. Her influence on the mind and manners of the young ladies under her care cannot be too highly prized."

I have selected the above expressions from a large number of letters which can be seen by applying to Mrs. Anderson, of whose talents and tact as a teacher, and culture as a christian lady, I entertain a very high opinion.

E. J. GOODSPEED.

We cheerfully acquiesce in the sentiments expressed above, and cordially commend Mrs. Anderson and her school to the patronage of the public.

Mr. R. J. Richardson, Sir:—I learn that you are manufacturing the Jessup Grain Drills. I came here from York state the last of March, 1859 and sold fourteen of Jessup's first patent. The next spring, after closing my winter school, I sold eight on, and last spring after closing my school I sold thirty-six of Jessup's Improved Drills, such as I learn you are making. Now I wish to ask you if you can furnish me with some of the ten and eleven tooth drills for next spring's use. I do not think of ordering more than twenty at present. Those I sold last spring gave entire satisfaction. Please reply immediately. Yours,

CERTIFICATES

as to the value of

The Jessup Seed Drill.

The following certificates have been given by persons using the Jessup Seed Drill:

FULTON.

Mr. Soverhill:—I take pleasure in saying that the Jessup Drill which I purchased of you last spring operates to my entire satisfaction. The draft is light, it distributes the grain very evenly and accurately, and there is no possibility of its cracking the grain. I am acquainted with the operation of many different drills and can cheerfully recommend the Jessup as a superior one. Yours, JOB ALLEN.

Mr. Soverhill:—The Jessup Drill I purchased of you last spring operates as well as I could wish it to. I would cheerfully recommend it to any one in want of a drill. WM. SHORT.

Albion, Dane county.

Mr. Soverhill:—I hereby certify that the Jessup Grain Drill I purchased of you last spring works in the most satisfactory manner. I think it a good and durable machine, and worthy the patronage of every good farmer. It is a saving in seed and labor.

Cooksville, Nov. 25, 1861. H. STEBBINS.

I have examined many drills and am satisfied that the Jessup is the best. I used one last spring and like it much. It is very accurate and light draft.

Bradford, Dec. 27, 1861. WALTER STONE.

Mr. Soverhill:—We cordially assent to what Mr. Stebbins says about the Jessup Drill.

For 1862.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

To the People of

Janesville, Rock & adjoining Counties

McKey & Bro's

MAMMOTH STORE

FULLY COMPLETED

READY FOR BUSINESS.

We have now completed our new addition, making our store decidedly the largest business establishment west of New York city; size, 44 feet by 160, five stories high including basement. And in order to fill the same, we found it necessary in the early part of the season, to purchase ten times our usual amount of stock. Anticipating a still further advance on Foreign and Domestic goods, we made another extensive purchase immediately before the great and unprecedented advance which has taken place within the past two weeks. We have now in stock, at our different establishments, over $250,000 Worth of Merchandize!

Every single dollars worth of which was purchased before the advance, and in order to give our patrons a general benefit, we shall, for the Next 20 Days, Sell at Retail Only, the following goods at the prices mentioned, namely: Our entire stock of perfectly

FAST COLORED PRINTS

at 10 cents per yard. Let the people bear in mind that Prints have advanced in price 50 per cent; still we have concluded to close out the amount of our retail stock of Prints, being the very best brands in the market, at 10 Cents per Yard.

We have now on hand

10 Cases Madder Color Prints suitable for bedding, which we will sell, for the next 20 days, at 16 yards for $1, worth this day in Chicago 10 cents per yard at wholesale. The above prices are for the retail trade exclusively.

5,000 Chenille Scarfs

at 12½ cents each

Just received, five cases of plain, solid color which we offer, for the next 20 days, at prices even lower than prints, namely: 12 yards for $1. Just imagine,

DE LAINES!

Eight Pence per Yard for DeLaines.

3,000 pieces fancy figured DeLaines, nice small patterns, of the very best printing, which we offer for the next 20 days, at one shilling per yard, or eight yards for $1, the same price as prints.

We would ask attention to the following: our entire stock of splendid sold to-day in New York City at 25 cents, we now offer, for the next 20 days, at 1 shilling 6 pence per yard, or 10 yards for $1,83, which is the retail price of prints in many cities of this state to-day.

OUR MILLINERY DEPARTMENT

is well filled with a select stock of

Ribbons, Flowers, Plumes, Trimmings, &c., and presents great inducements to customers.

We call particular attention to our Dress Goods Department.

Having purchased in the early part of December 5,000 pieces of different styles of Dress Goods, at the great closing auction sales of the season, from Wilderming, Hogart & Humbert, William Topping & Co., Wildertaing & Mount, Hagarty & Co., Rudrow, Jones & Co., and Lockwood Brothers, where no goods are sold but by the case, direct from the Importers. And having purchased exclusively for cash, enables us this day to offer to our customers some as cheap as a common DeLaine, and in many cases as low as the present tariff prices. For instance, we now offer 100 pieces splendid Repps, ¾ yard wide at 2 shillings per yard, elegantly printed and of the most modern designs, and sold by us in the early part of the season at 50 cents per yard. We now offer, for the next 20 days, 100 pieces of double width Repps, sold by us last month at 63 cents per yard, now only 44 cents. All our

Mohairs, Poplins, French Merinos, Plain Repps

and many other styles at an equal reduction. Our stock of

CLOAKS AND SHAWLS

is now much larger than at any time previous this season, and in order to close them out we offer the entire stock at a

from 20 to 40 per cent from last week's prices.

We have recently fitted up a spacious

the entire length of our store, and filled it to its utmost capacity with a splendid stock of

Carpets and Oil Cloths, purchased before the great advance on Woolens and Cottons.

OUR STOCK OF CLOTHING

is large and varied, and also comprises Hats, Caps, Furnishing Goods, Buffalo Robes, Furs, &c., all purchased previously to the great advance—yet, for the purpose of closing out the entire stock, we now offer it at a Great Reduction.

Garments Made and Cut to Order.

Hoop Skirts!

We call the particular attention of the ladies to our unequaled stock of Hoop Skirts, comprising the Belle Trail, Four Cord Diamond Skirts which we now offer at FOUR CENTS PER ROW.

Also, the new Wove Tape Skirts with sealed tabs and patent fastenings, which we had made to order in New York city, and are warranted never to Get Out of Shape.

Also a large assortment of these much worn Balmoral Skirts, and very cheap.

IN CONCLUSION,

we beg leave to assure our customers that we will continue to do business upon the principle which has heretofore given such general satisfaction, and our store such wide-spread reputation. Make no purchases until you have paid a visit to our establishment, where you will find a greater variety, larger stock and than any other store in this part of the world. Persons living at a distance, in the purchase of the small sum of five dollars, can make sufficient to pay the expense by coming to our store to trade, as from 25 to 50 per ct.

CAN BE SAVED

by purchasing at our house, in comparison to prices paid at country stores.

SECOND GREAT ARRIVAL

OF

Fall and Winter Goods!

AT THE

NEW AND POPULAR STORE

OF

RIORDAN & LEECH,

Main Street, Janesville.

Owing to the immense trade we have done since commencement in this city, (a trade which far exceeded our most sanguine expectations,) we have been enabled to add to our already well selected and extensive stock a still greater variety of

all of which have been purchased previous to the late advance, thereby giving us the advantage of merchants who have been obliged to pay a far higher rate for goods purchased within the past week or two; we shall therefore continue to sell at prices which are sure to give satisfaction, and which have given us the character of

The Cheapest Store in Janesville, and which we are determined to maintain during our whole business career.

We call particular attention to our extensive variety of

DRESS GOODS,

comprising the latest styles in market: beautiful figured and plain Merinoes, all colors, Ottoman Repps, Silk Poplins, double width Broches, black and white check Valentias, Cordennas, Coburgs, &c., &c., together with an elegant assortment of

of the very richest styles.

SHAWLS AND CLOAKS.

In this department we have always been able to boast of the best selection in town and have added all the Different Styles Lately Manufactured,

thereby enabling us to offer the

HANDSOMEST LOT OF CLOAKS

to be found in any city of the west, not even excepting Chicago. Our stock of Broche, Square and Long Shawls are cheaper than ever before offered in this city, being the importation of Thirion Mallaird & Co. and purchased at auction at about one half their actual value.

We have on hand an elegant variety of consisting of Fitch, French Cooney, Mink, &c., &c., with

and which we offer

Twenty-Five Per Cent Lower than any other establishment in this city, a fact fully admitted by all who have purchased of us. Our Furs are entirely new and warranted free from moths.

It is unnecessary for us to enumerate our stock.

Call, Examine and Judge for Yourselves.

We feel grateful for the extensive patronage bestowed on us and hope to merit its continuation.

THE SOUTHERN REBELLION
and the
WAR FOR THE UNION:
A History of the Rise and Progress of the Rebellion,
and
Consecutive Narrative of Events and Incidents, from the First Stages of the Treason Against the Republic down to the Close of the Conflict,
TOGETHER WITH IMPORTANT DOCUMENTS AND EXTRACTS FROM REMARKABLE SPEECHES.
In Weekly Parts, 32 pages, large 8vo, Price 10 Cents.

THE want of an authentic and thorough History of the Rebellion, for present reference and future preservation, is the subject of general remark. No work of that nature has yet been offered to the public, and all who wish for information are compelled to grope through the mazes of the rumors, reports, dispatches, letters and editorials of the daily newspapers, to precipitate, from its confused columns, the great facts and incidents of the struggle for the Union.

To meet this want, and to produce a work of permanent value as well as of present interest, the publisher has arranged for the issue of the history as above set forth—in a form and at a price which shall render it acceptable to all.

This history will tell the STORY AS IT IS, giving a clear, consecutive narrative of the entire movement, including all the incidents and events in their exact order, and containing the important documents and extracts from remarkable speeches. It will not be a mere diary, nor a mere enumeration of dry and naked dates, nor a compilation of slips from newspapers, but will portray in connected and interesting narrative, the revolutionary steps, as well as the measures of the government.

It will carefully digest all evidence—will sift all rumors and reports—will fix upon facts, and correct so far as possible the errors and discrepancies incident to the hasty narratives of the newspapers.

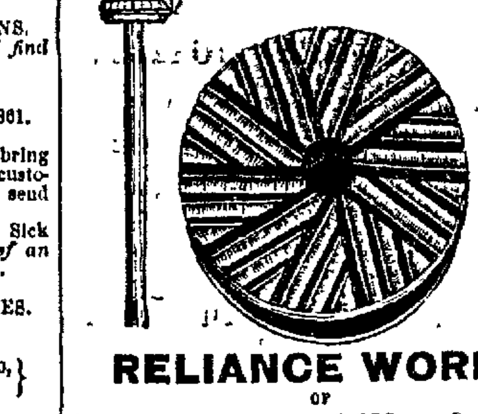

It will be written in a style suited to its theme—at once graphic, earnest and luminous, introducing such personal and social incidents as may serve to show the relations of individuals and communities to the grand events of the time.

It is true, everybody reads the newspapers, but the reports of the newspapers are the fragmentary and contradictory children of the moment, and not a correct, connected and complete history. The above publication, afterwards bound in a handsome volume, will be a book for the family, which will be valued like the records of the War of Independence, or the Life of Washington, and worthy to be kept for children and grand children, as a memorial of the present time.

It will thus prove desirable, available and satisfactory to every citizen, every family, every office, every library; and is given to the public in the full assurance that it will command the approbation of every patriot, every Union man, every good citizen in our still Glorious Land.

The only Correct and Complete

HISTORY OF THE WAR.

and the

WAR FOR THE UNION:

A History of the Rise and Progress of the Rebellion,

and

Consecutive Narrative of Events and Incidents, from the First Stages of the Treason Against the Republic down to the Close of the Conflict,

TOGETHER WITH IMPORTANT DOCUMENTS AND EXTRACTS FROM REMARKABLE SPEECHES.

In Weekly Parts, 32 pages, large 8vo, Price 10 Cents.

THE want of an authentic and thorough History of the Rebellion, for present reference and future preservation, is the subject of general remark. No work of that nature has yet been offered to the public, and all who wish for information are compelled to grope through the mazes of the rumors, reports, dispatches, letters and editorials of the daily newspapers, to precipitate, from its confused columns, the great facts and incidents of the struggle for the Union.

To meet this want, and to produce a work of permanent value as well as of present interest, the publisher has arranged for the issue of the History as above set forth—in a form and at a price which shall render it acceptable to all.

This history will tell the STORY AS IT IS, giving a clear, consecutive narrative of the entire movement, including all the incidents and events in their exact order, and containing the important documents and extracts from remarkable speeches. It will not be a mere diary, nor a mere enumeration of dry and naked dates, nor a compilation of slips from newspapers, but will portray in connected and interesting narrative, the revolutionary steps, as well as the measures of the government.

It will carefully digest all evidence—will sift all rumors and reports—will fix upon facts, and correct so far as possible the errors and discrepancies incident to the hasty narratives of the newspapers.

It will be written in a style suited to its theme—at once graphic, earnest and luminous, introducing such personal and social incidents as may serve to show the relations of individuals and communities to the grand events of the time.

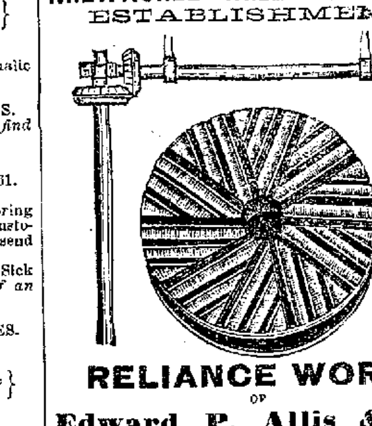

It is true, everybody reads the newspapers, but the reports of the newspapers are the fragmentary and contradictory children of the moment, and not a correct, connected and complete history. The above publication, afterwards bound in a handsome volume, will be a book for the family, which will be valued like the records of the War of Independence, or the Life of Washington, and worthy to be kept for children and grand-children, as a memorial of the present time.

It will thus prove desirable, available and satisfactory to every citizen, every family, every office, every library; and is given to the public in the full assurance that it will command the approbation of every patriot, every Union man, every good citizen in our still Glorious Land.
